Folio

The period covered by the 1984 Terrapin—those days between February, 1983, and February, 1984—will be remembered as any other: a time of love and laughter, of frailties and fears, of those things lost, and those things gained.

But here in these pages, we hope this time will be remembered as something more—as a time when people came to realize how good life can be, and saw that the future will ask much of us, but it will be ours.

Dedication

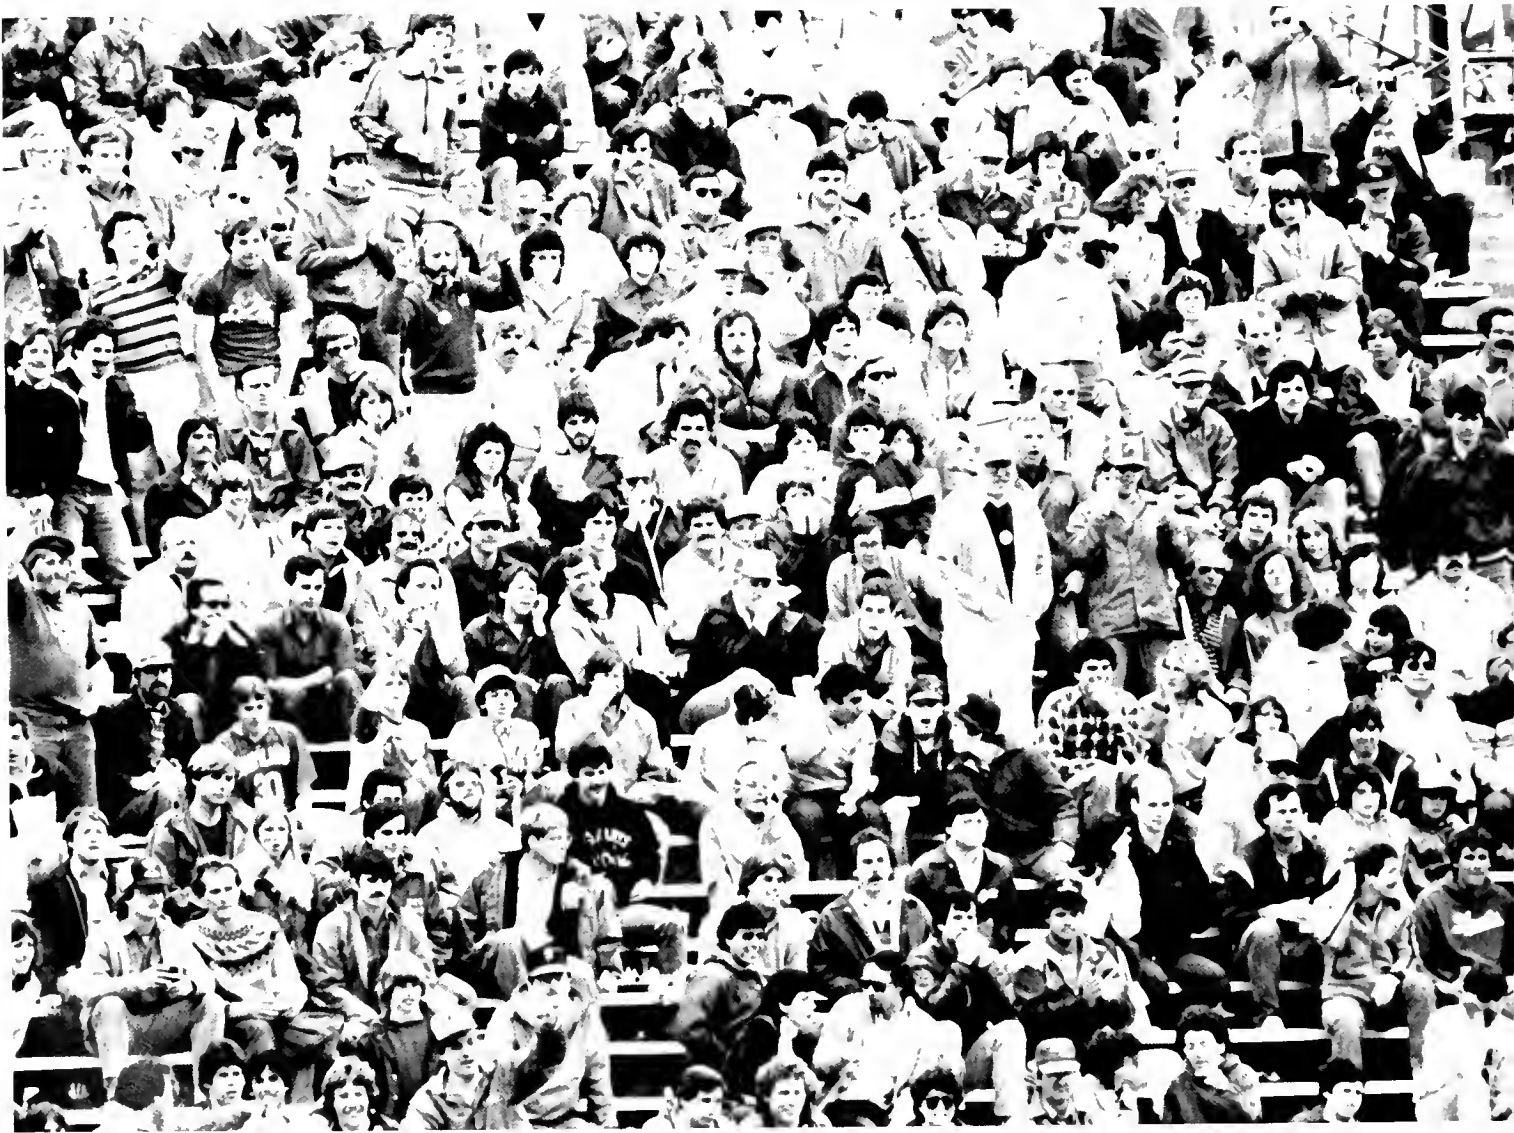

... to the kind of spirit evidenced in the student support of the tenure application of Communication Arts and Theatre professor Michael duMonceau in the spring of 1983— it being proof positive that those who make a day-to-day commitment to helping others do not stand alone.

"Everywhere Man blames Nature and Fate, yet his fate is mostly but the echo of his character and passions, his mistakes and weaknesses."

-Democritus

Today's Heroes

It's been said that because we are Americans, we need heroes to show us the way. Right now, these writers and philosophers say, we are caught in a national climate of disillusion and skepticism.

People do seem to be waiting for the moment when the Golden Age of heroes will rise again, bringing with it peace.

The lesson to be learned is that we need not look to the past for the strength to find our Golden Age. We need only to look within ourselves for the courage and heroism each of us has, for that courage is needed to find peace.

And when, finally, we fully commit our ways to peace, we will all be today's heroes, willing to make personal sacrifices to build Our Golden Age.

“What Do The Simple Folk Do?”

“Most often a hero has to look at a situation and choose the appropriate course of action in the very same instant. What makes him heroic is his vision, and how he demonstrates his commitment to that vision.”

There are rare events that capture the heart and imagination of an entire nation.

In the days following the MASH finale, there were those who said it was "silly" that a mere television program had become so important to so many. Perhaps. But MASH at least touched people enough to cause them to care—and that's not such a silly idea at all.

The night of February 28, 1983 was such an event.

We're proud to have been part of it.

Everyone's Favorite: The Armory

Armory registration, the most talked about event during the first week of school, had a new appearance this year. The zoo-like atmosphere of yesteryear at each departmental booth was replaced by a snakeish-shaped creature: an enormously long, winding line of students waiting to talk to a vast network of computers as part of the new on-line registration process.

The Division Of Arts And Humanities

A variety of choice is the m.o. of the Division of Arts and Humanities. Courses range from foreign language to art to American History. A student concentrating here can also learn music, sculpture, and dance. Internships galore are available in the local area; graduating students pursue careers in law, bilingual businesses, marketing, and the media, to name a few.

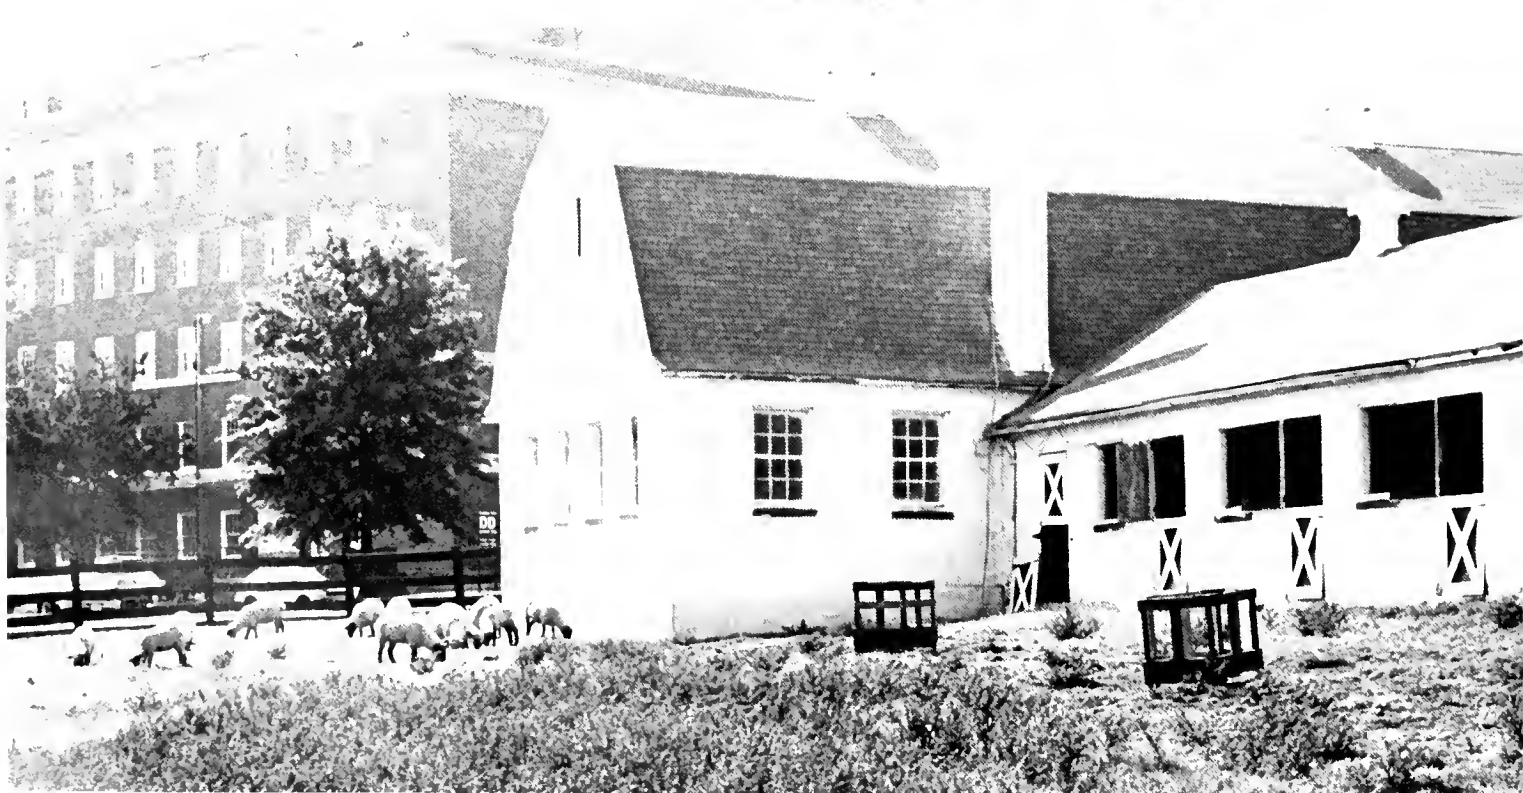

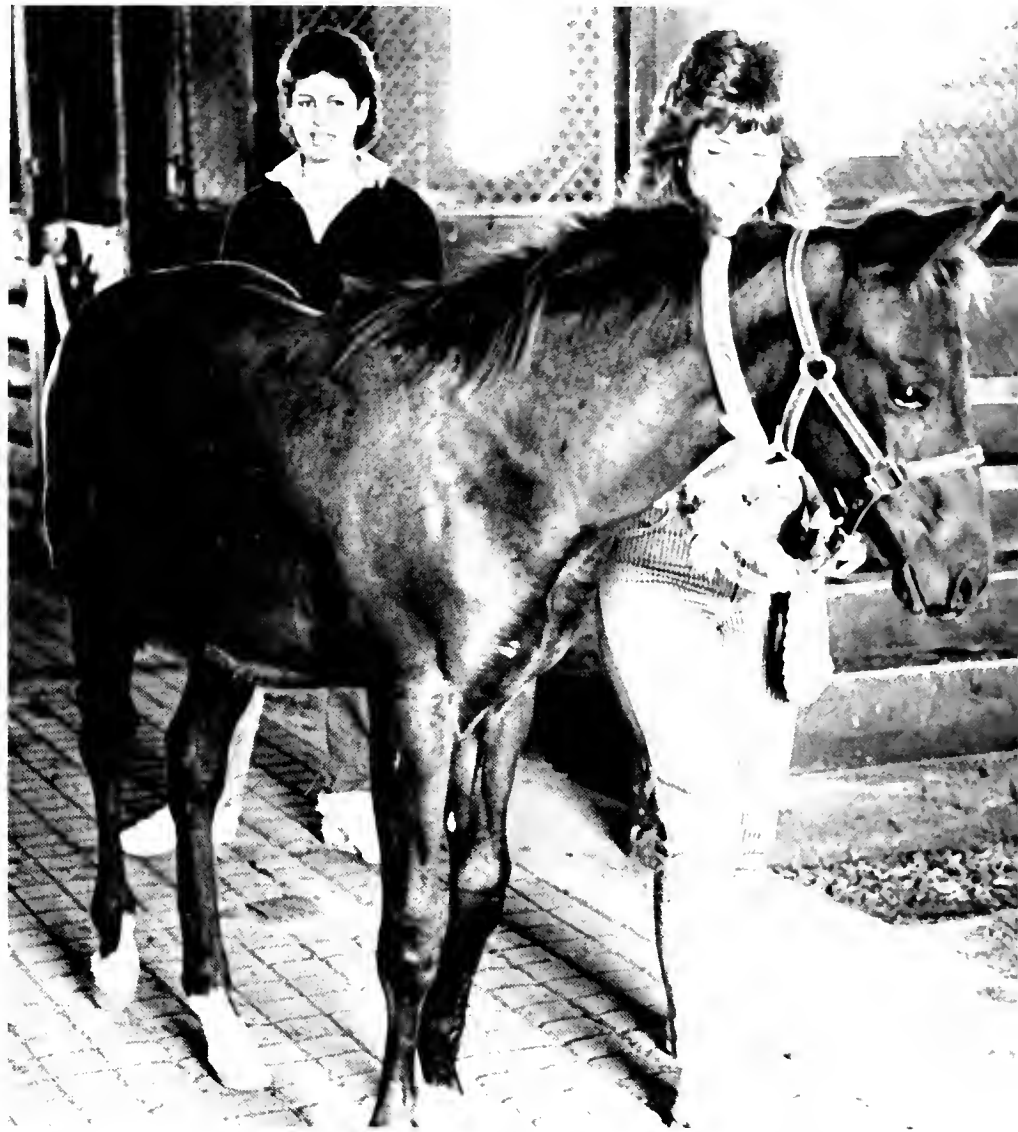

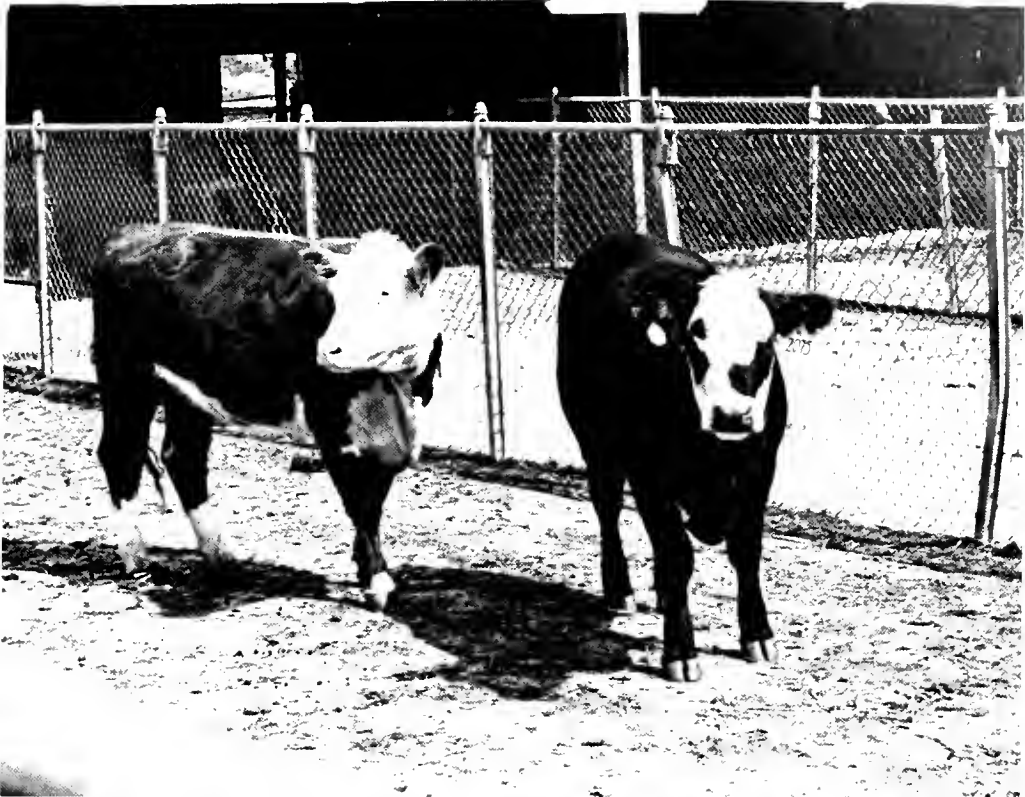

Division Of Agriculture And Life Sciences

The Division of Agriculture and Life Sciences provides a vast program for the student interested in the study of living organisms and how they survive and interact with the environment.

The available courses of study include: agricultural and resource economics and agricultural engineering as well as the chemical and biological sciences. Most often, students involved in this division find jobs in the areas of medicine, dentistry and veterinary medicine.

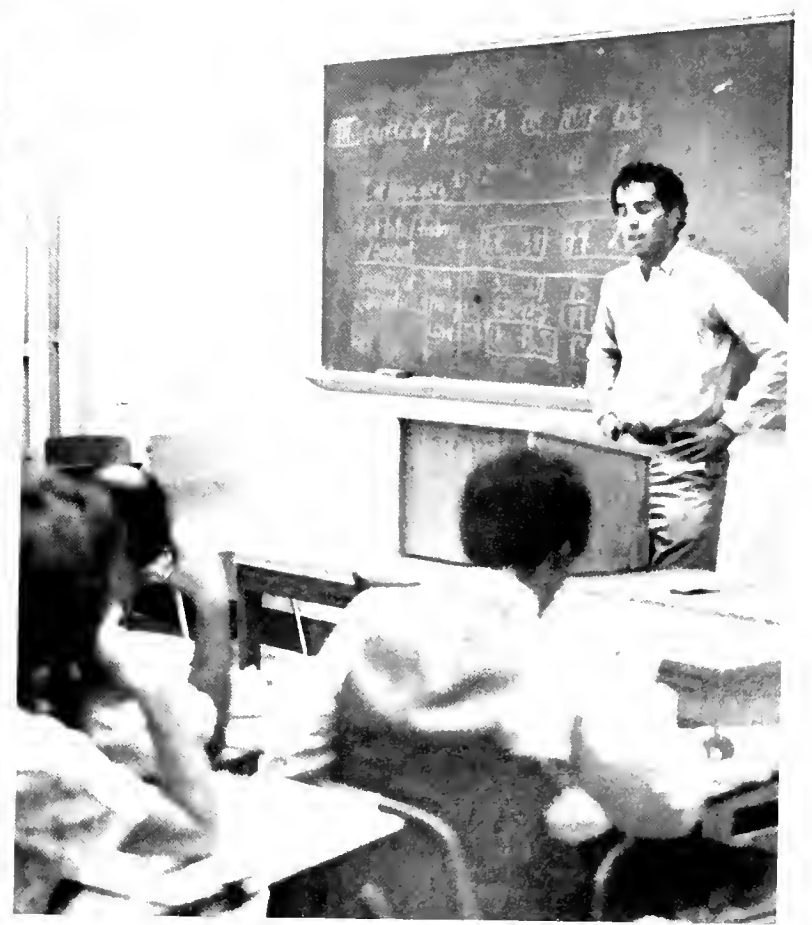

Division Of Behavioral And Social Sciences

The Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences encompasses many majors including sociology, psychology and business. Most of the students in this division are in the College of Business and Management. Accounting and finance and marketing are among the business course topics offered. Students interested in this department find many opportunities despite the overflow of students in many courses.

Division Of Human And Community Resources

There is a broad spectrum of courses offered in the Human and Community Resources Division. Some community health classes such as sex education, drug and alcohol use and abuse, and weight reduction are favorites among students. Many Human Ecology courses are so much in demand that the department must restrict them to majors only.

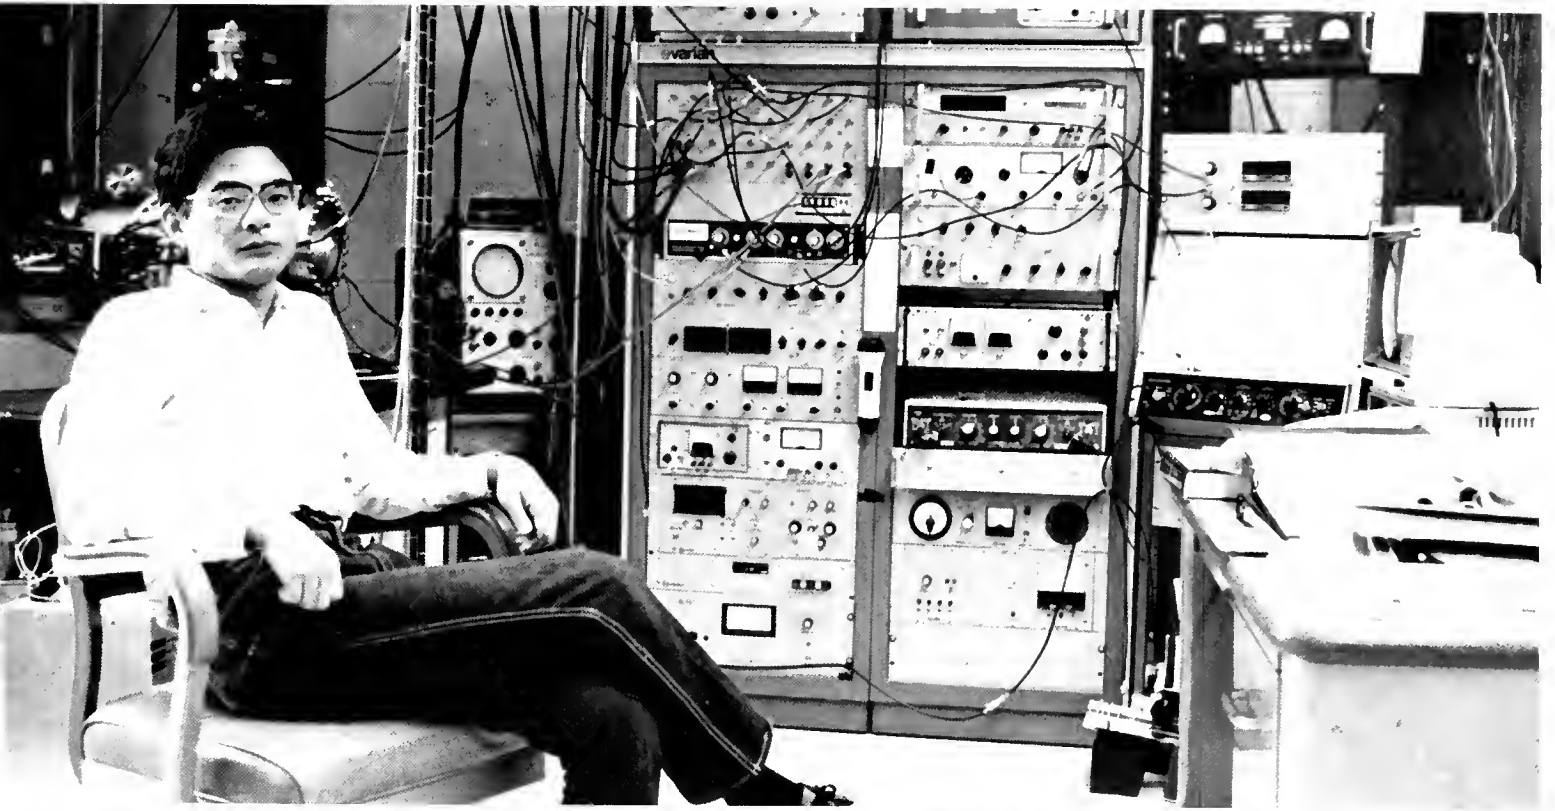

Division Of Mathematical And Physical Sciences And Engineering

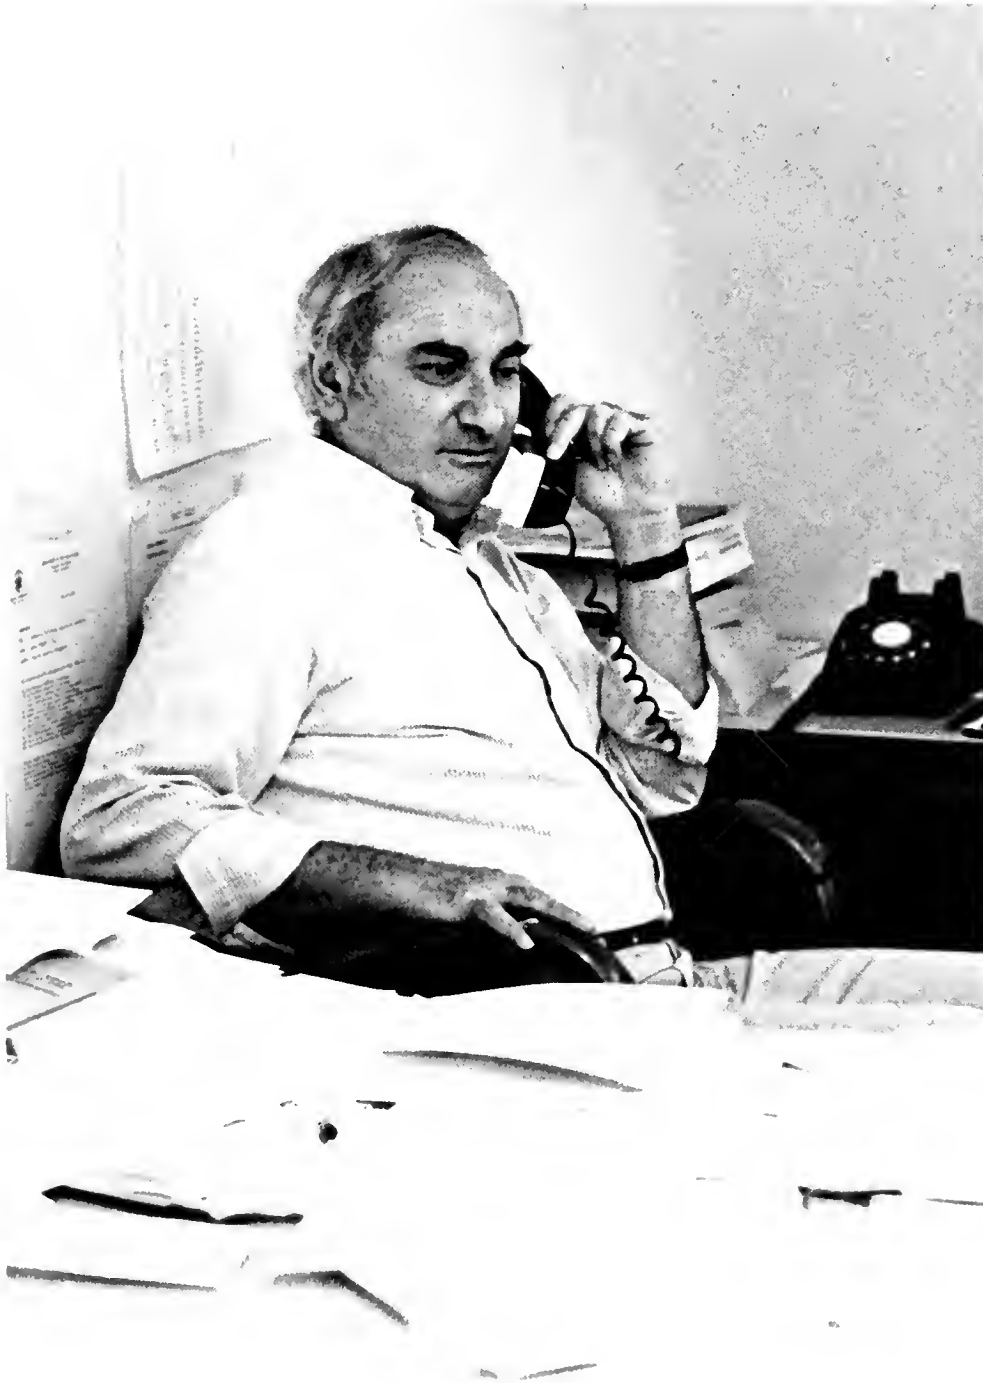

Divisional students here have the opportunity to take courses including Introductory Computer Programming, Physics of Music and Introduction to Astronomy. All departments of MPSE are involved with research which is primarily financed by the National Sciences Foundation, the National Aeronautic Space Association (N.A.S.A.), the Department of Energy, and the Office of Naval Research.

The Buck Stops Here

Dr. John S. Toll was appointed as president of the University of Maryland six years ago. He has brought U.M.C.P. new ideas and has gained the respect of leaders throughout the state. Known for his quiet, reserved manner, Toll has influenced many people whom he has worked with and has been praised for his openness and determination. Last year the ratings of scholarly quality of faculty, released from the National Academy of Sciences, show the University of Maryland as the outstanding public university in the Northeastern U.S. Toll has guided UM along its course to be a highly rated institution.

CAMPUS EVENTS

The Inauguration Of A Chancellor

Cap and gown abounded in May long before official graduation ceremonies when John Brooks Slaughter was inaugurated as the third chancellor of UMCP.

Focusing his inaugural address on moving his campus continually into the future, Chancellor Slaughter said he will strive for, among other things, higher retention of minority students and a balance towards teaching as well as research among faculty members.

T.K.E. Special Olympics

Special Olympics is an athletic and recreational event for mentally retarded citizens. TKE fraternity sponsors this event, which was held on May 5, 1983 with help from businesses in the College Park community. Track and field events fill a day which also includes games, magic shows, jugglers and clowns.

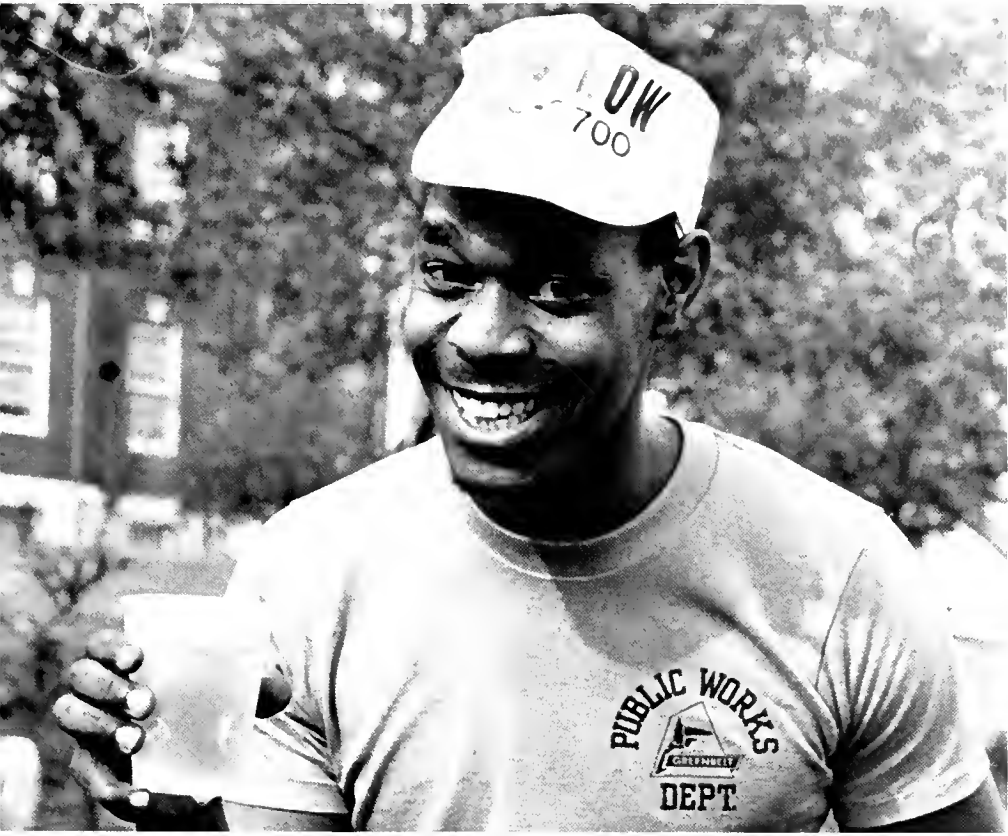

Aprilfest

Just when spring break has ended and you think there is nothing to look forward to comes five days of drinking, mixers and olympics. This event is sponsored by the dorms of North and South Hill. The events are exciting and the drinking is (almost) painless. There are free movies and free fun at one of the most exciting event on campus.

The Food Co-op Smoke-in

Alfalfa sprouts and natural peanut butter are what our Food Co-op is most famous for, but little known is its motto "Food for thought, not profit." The smoke-in, held annually on the Mall, allows Co-op types another forum in which to express their views on poverty, abortion, nuclear war, and, of course, "pot."

All students are invited to this event that is a tradition with architecture students all over the country. This year's theme was the gangster era of Chicago in the 1920's and 1930's.

Every year Phi Sigma Delta fraternity sponsors a 72 hour dance marathon; the money raised is donated to the American Cancer Society. “Steppin”

What is stepping, you say? Stepping is that part of Homecoming when the black fraternities and sororities gather to celebrate their organizations. Participating this year were five fraternities and three sororities.

Terrapin Trot

And they're off . . . the runners started at Byrd Stadium, ran a course around campus and crossed the finish line back at Byrd Stadium. People of all ages competed in this race and prizes were awarded to winners in different categories. Free t-shirts were given to all entrants. Honorable mention goes to Mike Scrivens, a polio victim who walked the race on crutches.

Night Of Fright

Goblins and ghosts crowded the College Park area as clowns, witches and others celebrated all weekend long. The child in us all rose again in the form of a candy bag, trick or treating through the University of Maryland dormitories. The sky was dark, the moon was orange—and we met the great pumpkin after all.

The Nitty Gritty Dirt Band, The Nighthawks, and Slickey Boys, were only a few of the performers brought to us by the Glass Onion Concert Committee, headed by Jim Finn, Bob Kelly, and Ken Delaney.

Brigadoon

Sure, an't' God, it was a delight, this University Theatre production of the story of two American hunters who become lost in the Scottish foothills and discover the spectral village of "Brigadoon," which awakens once every hundred years through a pact hammered out with The Lord. The play spoke to all of us when it said, "If you love someone enough, anything is possible." Hopefully, people were listening.

“You Can’t Take It With You”

Ah, yes, the Vanderhofs and the Sycamores, brought so irresistibly to life by the University Theatre group this spring of '83. The show was as funny as the dickens, sentimental, and yet philosophical. Listen well, ye foolish youth, to Grandpa Vanderhof's simple philosophy in defense of the enjoyment of life. Bravo!

Hello Dolly!

It was big. It was brassy. It was wonderful. It was Stewart and Herman's "Hello Dolly!" presented on several different autumn nights by the University Theatre. The standard show business axiom advises that, come what may, "the show must go on," and the actors here displayed true grit by continually performing despite several injuries to the cast.

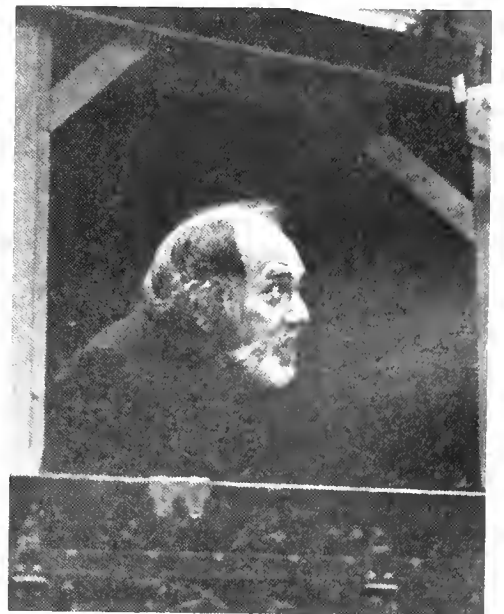

“The Miser”

Some of the faces were familiar (namely New Yorkers William Vitcover and Herman Arbeit as director and lead actor, respectively), but still “The Miser” held its audience rapt as it spun its tale of an old skinflint, two pairs of young lovers, several arranged marriages, and a hidden treasure.

Merit badges here to faculty member Tom Donahue for his set design and Diane Ferry for her imaginative lighting.

The Gallery Theatre

Sometimes, the best things occur in the smallest places. In our petite gallery this year, saw we did "Change, Changes, Changed," "And Miss Reardon Drinks a Little," and "Awake and Sing."

The image features a complex, abstract geometric pattern composed of thick, solid black lines of varying lengths and orientations. These lines intersect to form a series of irregular, rectangular and square shapes, creating a grid-like structure that is both dynamic and balanced. The lines are set against a plain white background, which emphasizes their stark, high-contrast appearance. The overall effect is reminiscent of a stylized architectural drawing or a modernist graphic design.

SPORTS

Women's Lacrosse

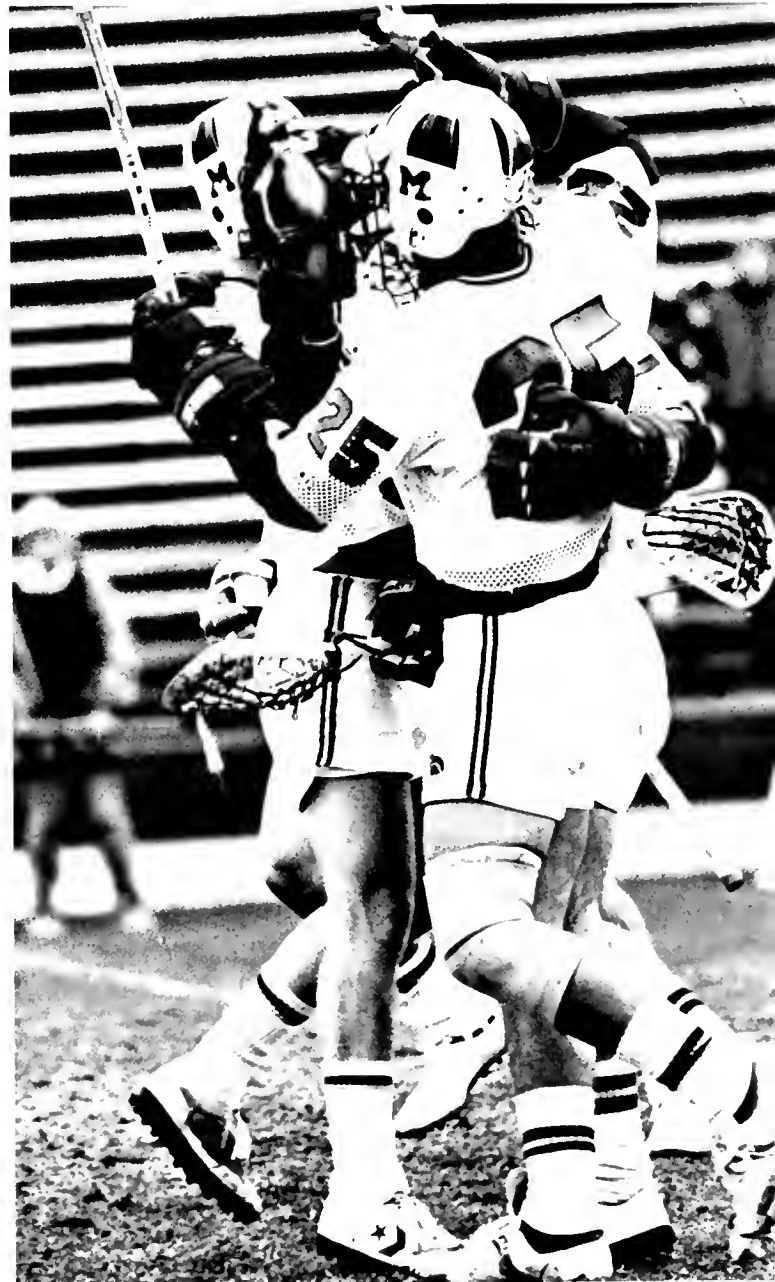

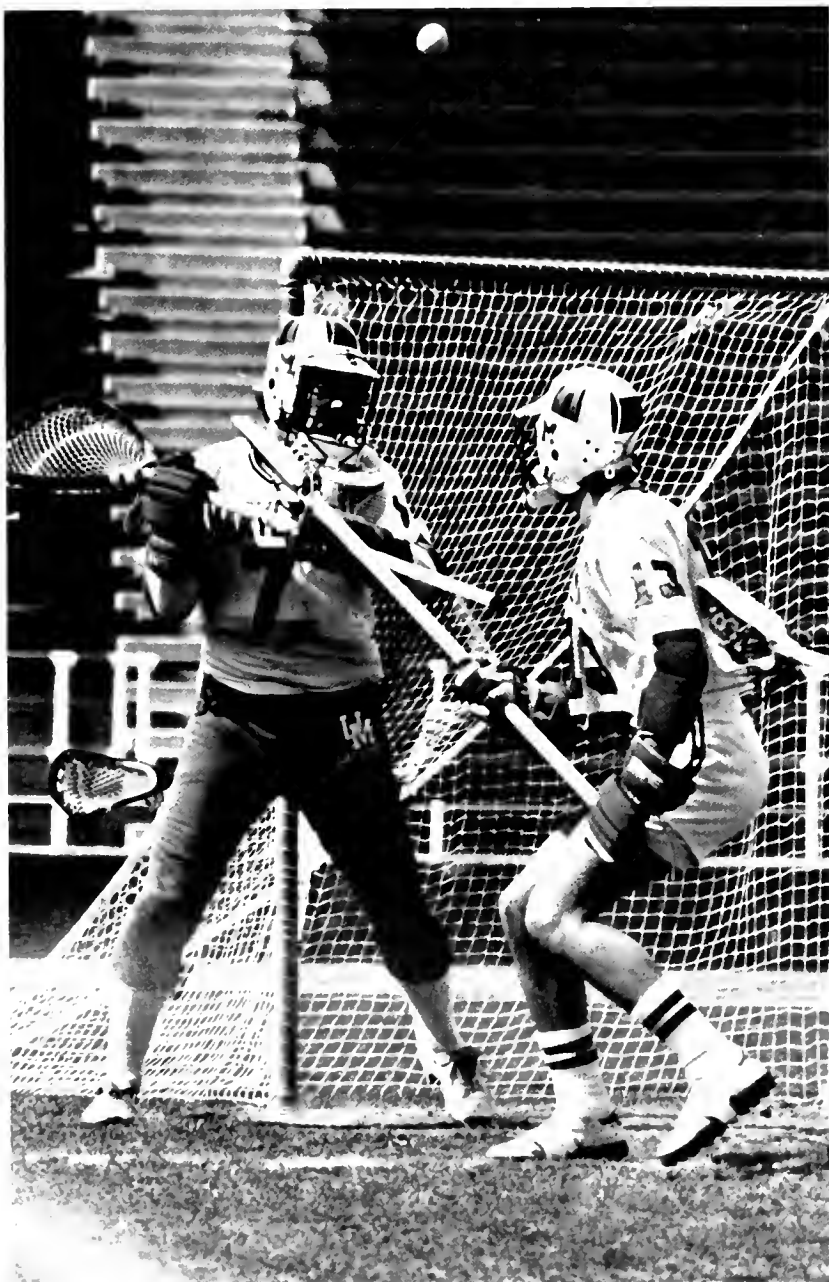

In her ninth season as Maryland head coach, Sue Tyler lead the Terrapins to an 11-21 record. The Terps were seeded third among twelve teams in the NCAA Championship tournament. Karen Trudel, Abigail Kay Ruffino, Lori Moxley, Lynn Frame, Celine Flinn, goalie Mary Lynne Morgan and Jackie Williams all deserve honorable mention.

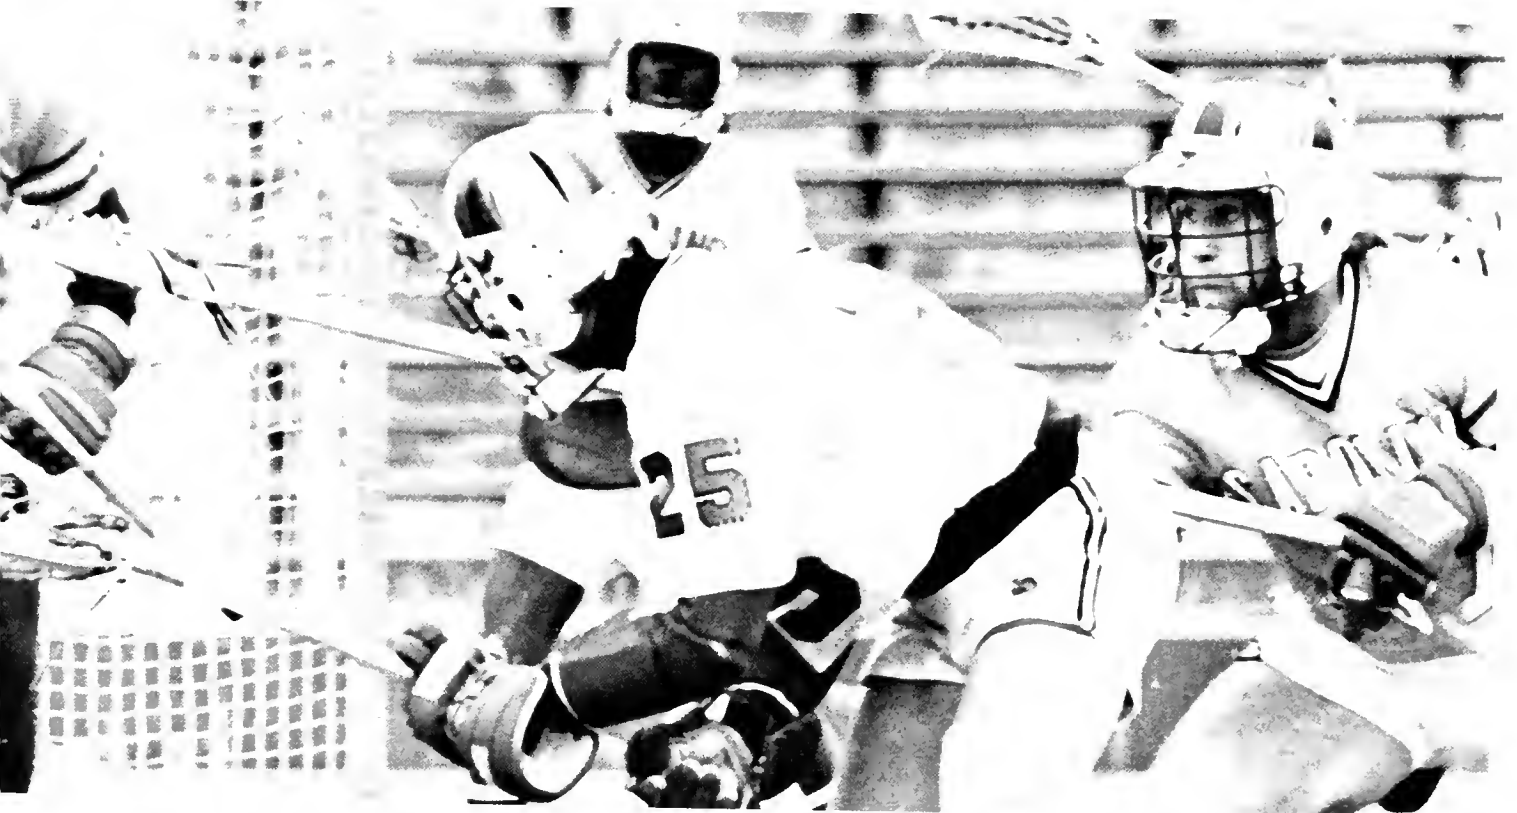

Men's Lacrosse

Dino Mattessi's Terps did not come a cropper in '83, ending the season with a 9-5 overall record. The Terps even advanced to the NCAA semi-finals, though losing there to Syracuse University. Jim Wilkerson advanced to the number three slot on the all-time Maryland career goals list.

Womens Outdoor Track

A banner year, to say the least. While the team itself finished second in the ACC Championships, four Terrapins took first place honors at the meet: Marita Walton in both the Shot Put and Discus, Carolyn Forde in the 3000m, Tomi Rucker in the long jump, and Sue Aurey in the javelin. All the women qualified for the NCAA Track and Field Championship; Walton collected her seventh All-American title.

The men's track team placed second in the IC4A Championships and fourth in the ACC Championships in 1983. Leading the team was Alan Baginski, who won individual honors in both tournaments in addition to being named All-American. Mike Pascuzzo (high jump 7-13/4), Greg Rowe (shot put 59' 2 1/4) and Bill Smith (decathlon 6,863 pts.) also earned individual titles throughout the season.

The Maryland Nine

Although the Terrapin "Boys of Summer" finished their season with an overall record of 14-19-1, they had many impressive victories over adversaries such as Georgia Tech, Clemson, Wake Forest and Virginia.

Heirs To The Capitals

No, this is not the Capital Centre. It's the Calvert Hockey Rink in College Park, where our Terps practice three-on-ones by day and score goals by night. Though not an intermural sport, the club receives much coverage in the area.

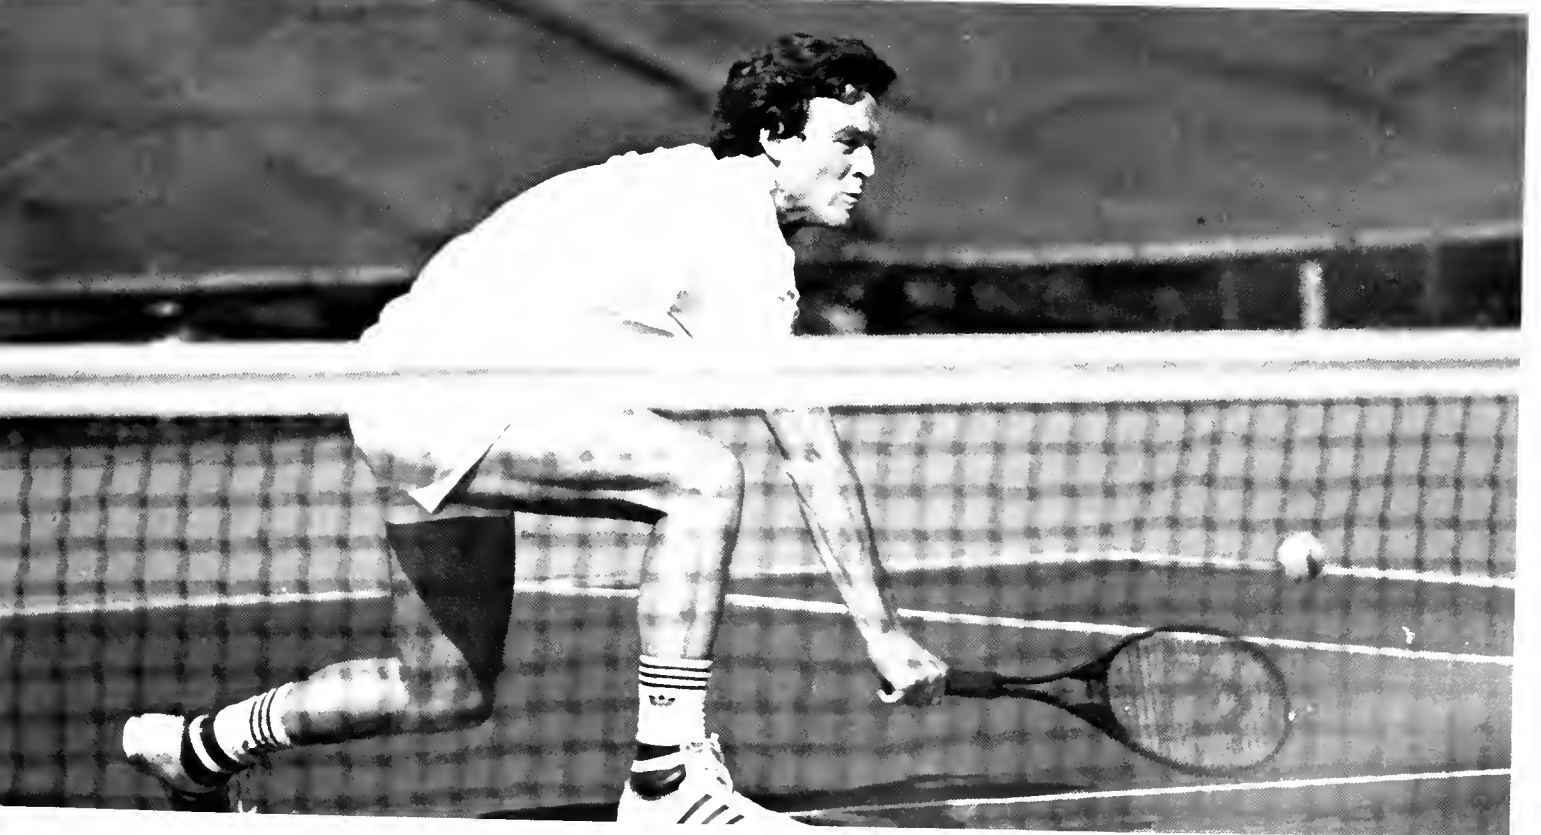

Future Borgs

With an impressive 14-4 record, our court-men finished fifth in the ACC Championships. Inaki Calvo and Scott Wlodychack both placed third in the number one and number four singles respectively. The Terps participated in the NIT, held at Southeast Louisiana.

Runners

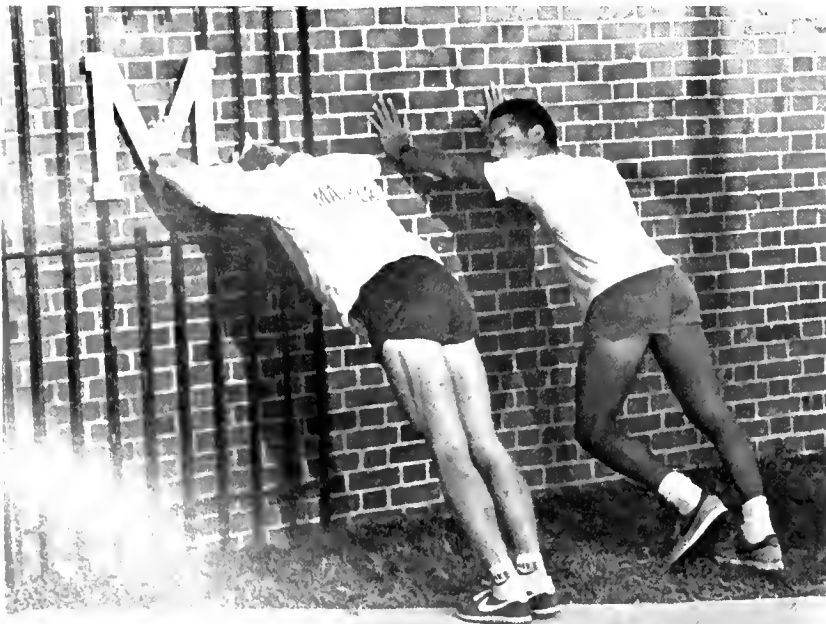

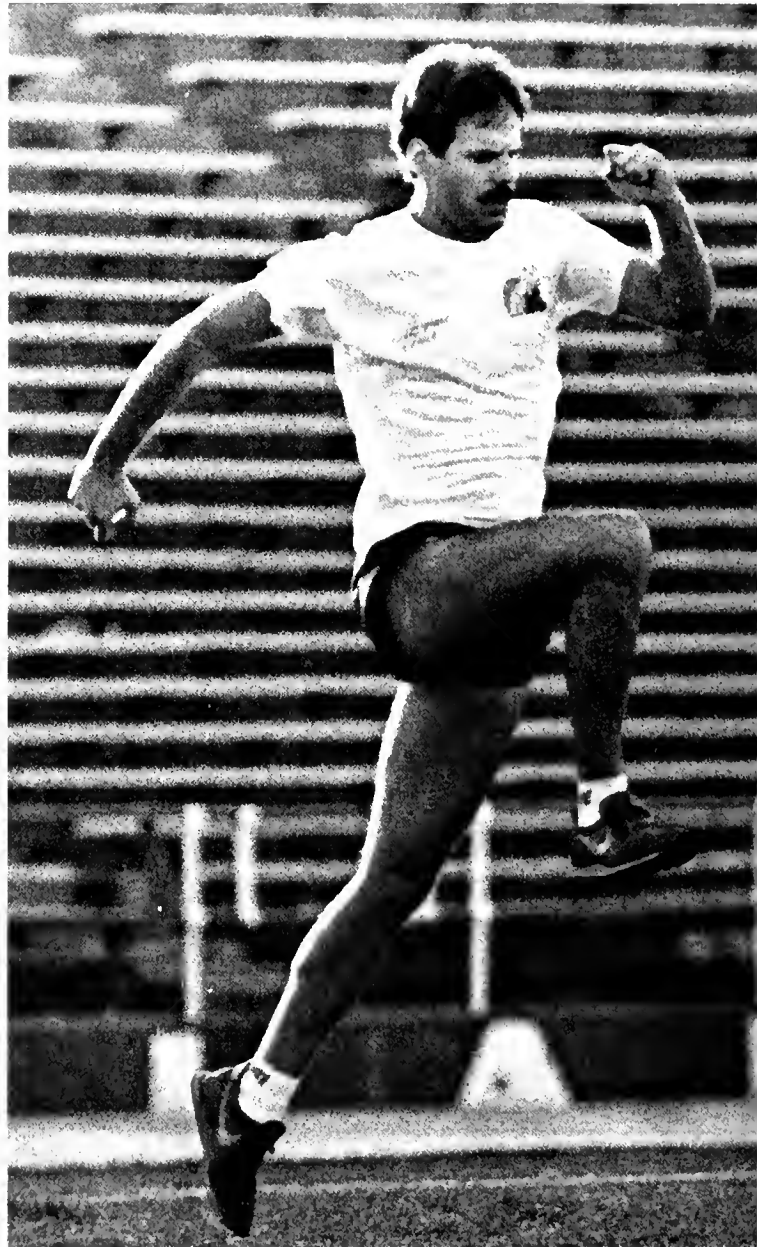

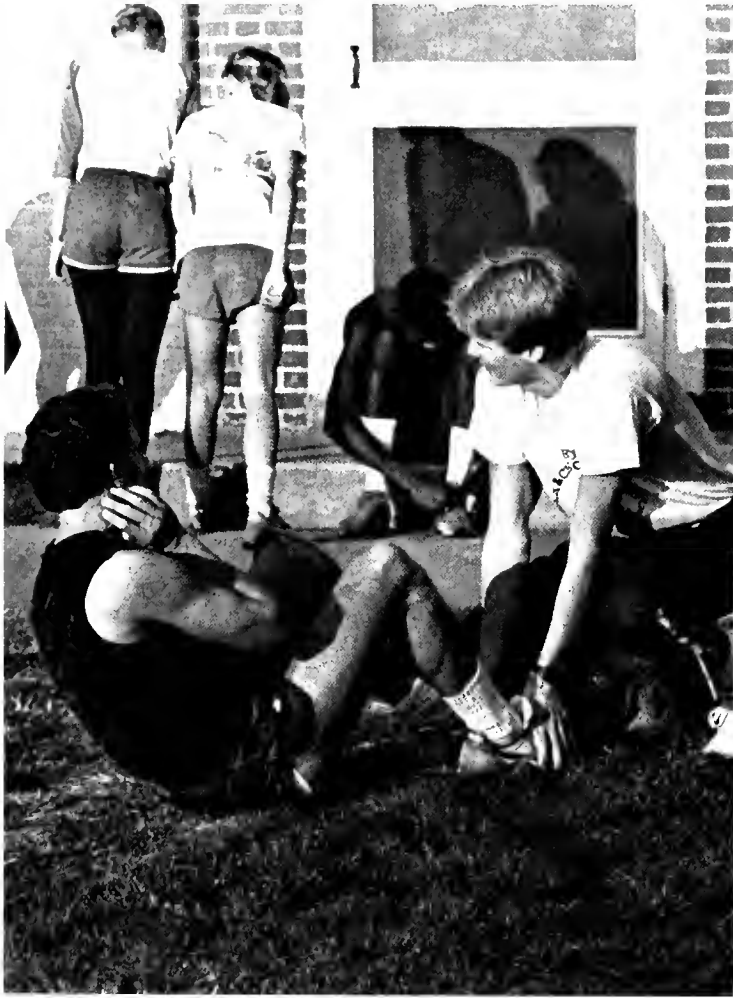

Built on all freshman and sophomores, the team finished 5th in the ACC. Captain Carolyn Ford was 10th All-Conference, 15th All-District, and ranked 26th in the American Cross-Country Tournament. Freshman Bobbie McGee and Sophomore Debbie Dohmeier also contributed to this successful season.

And More Runners

Coach Charles Torpey's squad ended their season 4th in the ACC. Although it was a very young squad, there was huge improvement from prior years. Freshman Dennis Cullinane and Senior Gregg Herzog were named All-Conference. Freshman Dan Foley was All-District as well as All-Conference.

Stickers

Sue Tyler's team was ranked 15th in the country with an 11-7-2 record. For the first time ever, two girls (Captain Andrea LeMare and Jacqueline Williams) were All-American. Although this was not the team's best season, Tyler is very optimistic about next season since there were 4 freshman on the 83 team.

Kickers

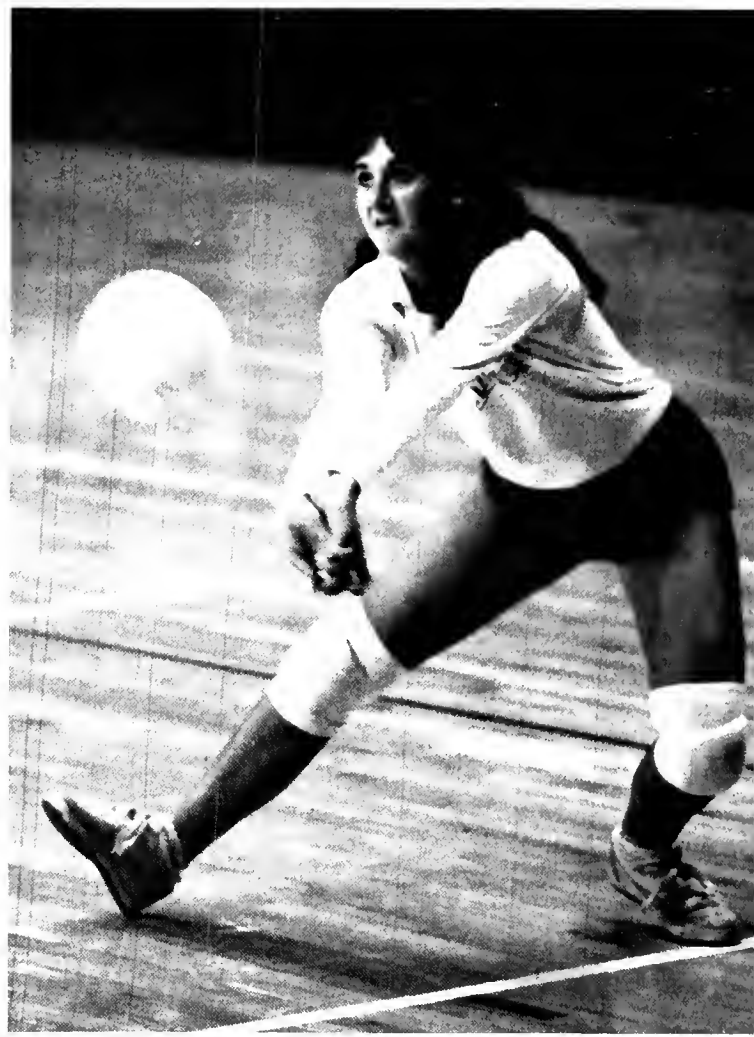

The kickers from College Park suffered through this season what every team must every so often, a rebuilding year. But at season's end, Coach Joe Gismbaldt's boys held their heads high, proclaiming their readiness for 1984.

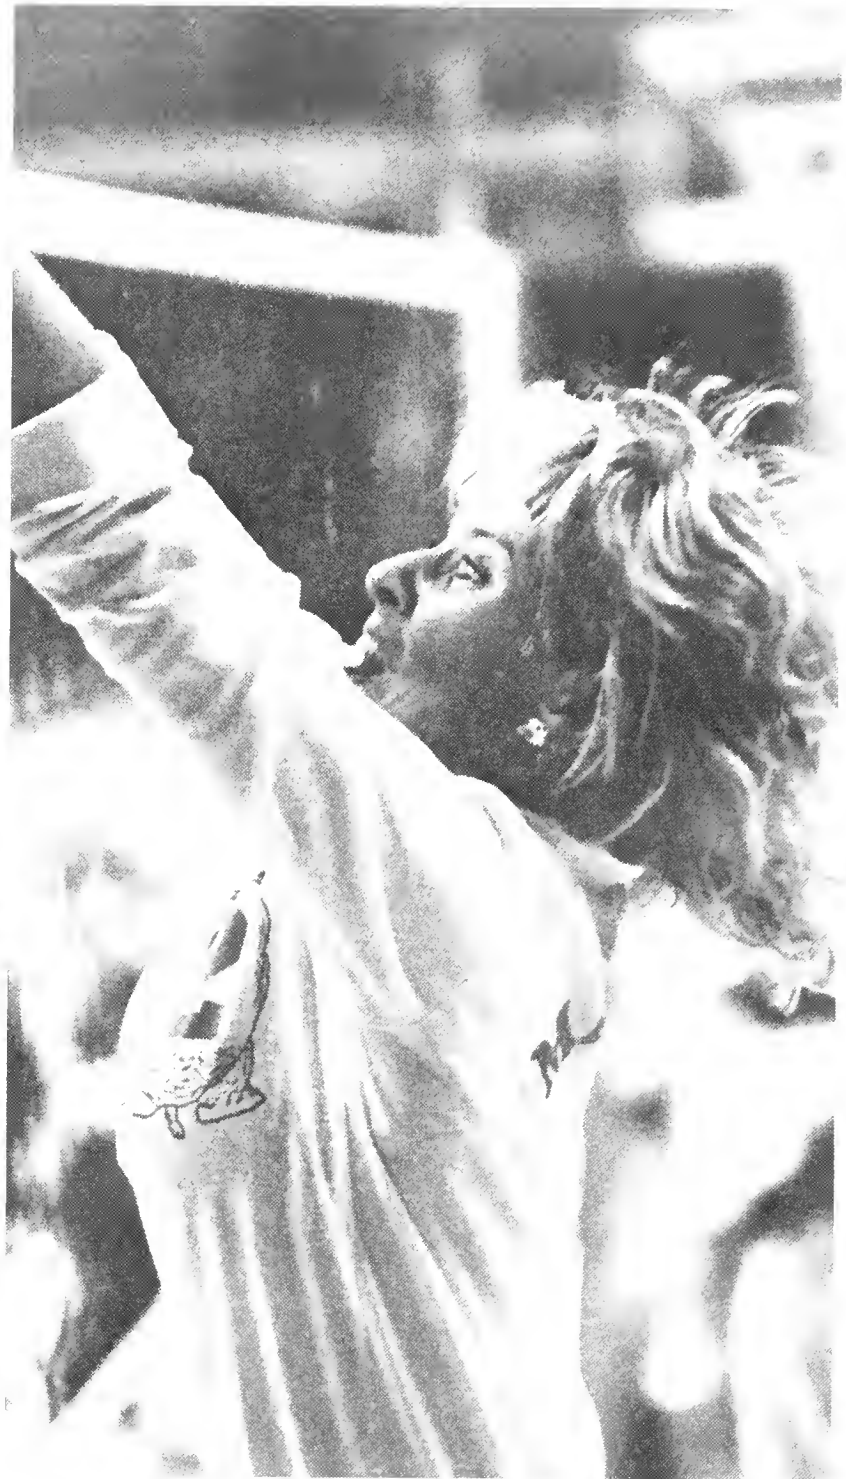

Spikers

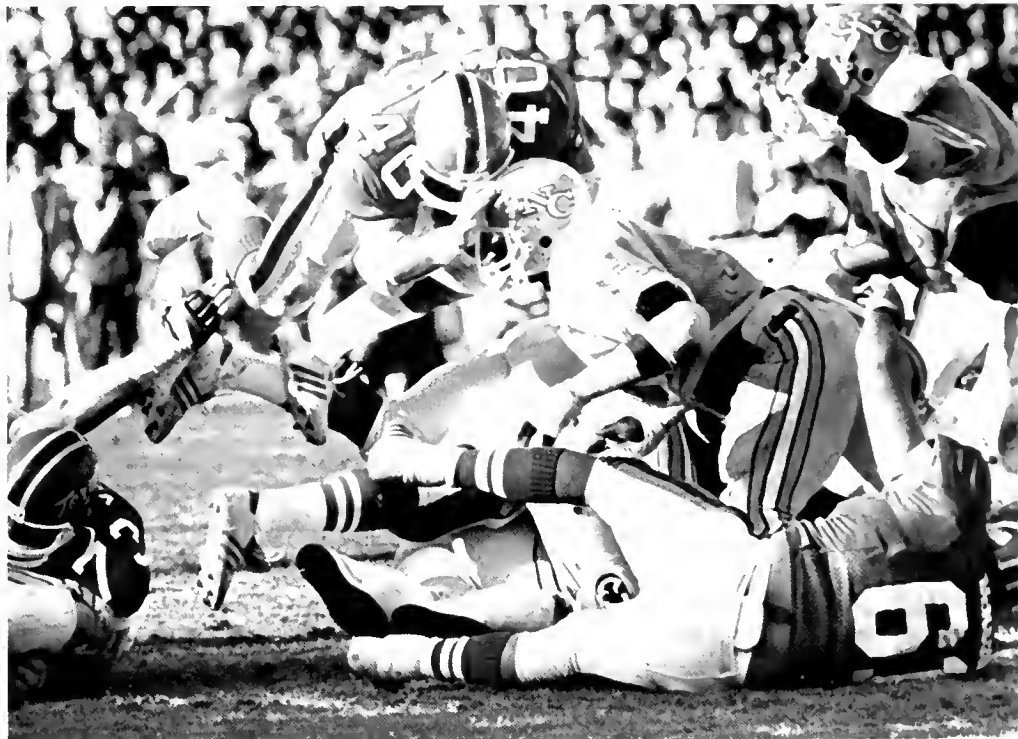

It is a shame that this well coached team is as little known as it is. Coached by Barbara Dumm, the squad always plays close, competitive matches. Standouts this year included Veronica Vogel, Denise Gieves, and Kristen Blomquist.

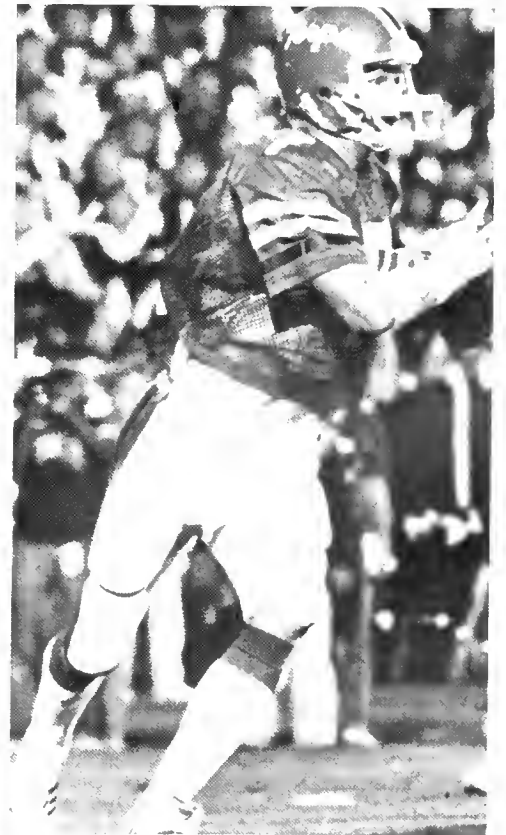

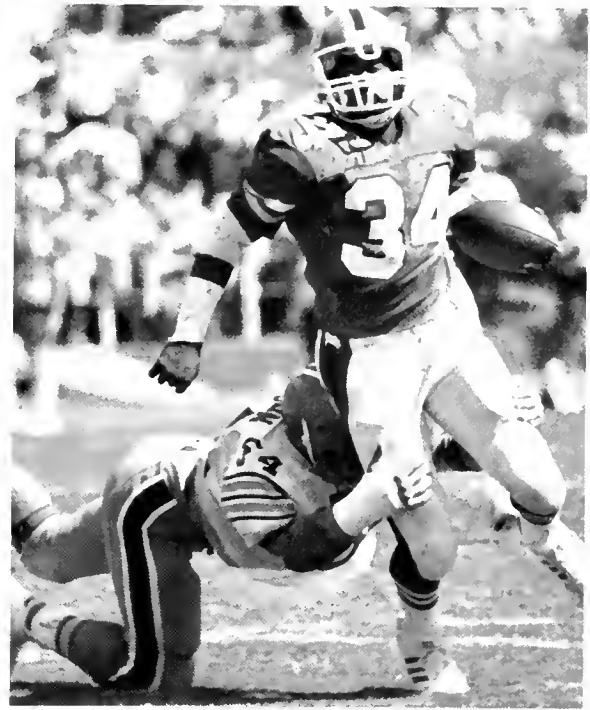

Goodbye, North Carolina . . .

In his second year as head coach, Bobby Ross ended his season with another successful season. The Terps' 11-3 record placed them number 1 in the ACC and sent them off to a bowl game in Florida. Boomer Esiason, who was recognized as one of the best quarterbacks in the country, was listed as one of the top ten candidates for the Heisman Trophy. The Terps had impressive victories over North Carolina, Wake Forest, Pitt and N.C. State, outweighing a disappointing loss to Auburn. Jess Atkinson, Pete Koch, Clarence Baldwin, and Eric Wilson were All-ACC. Ron Solt was All-American as well as All-ACC.

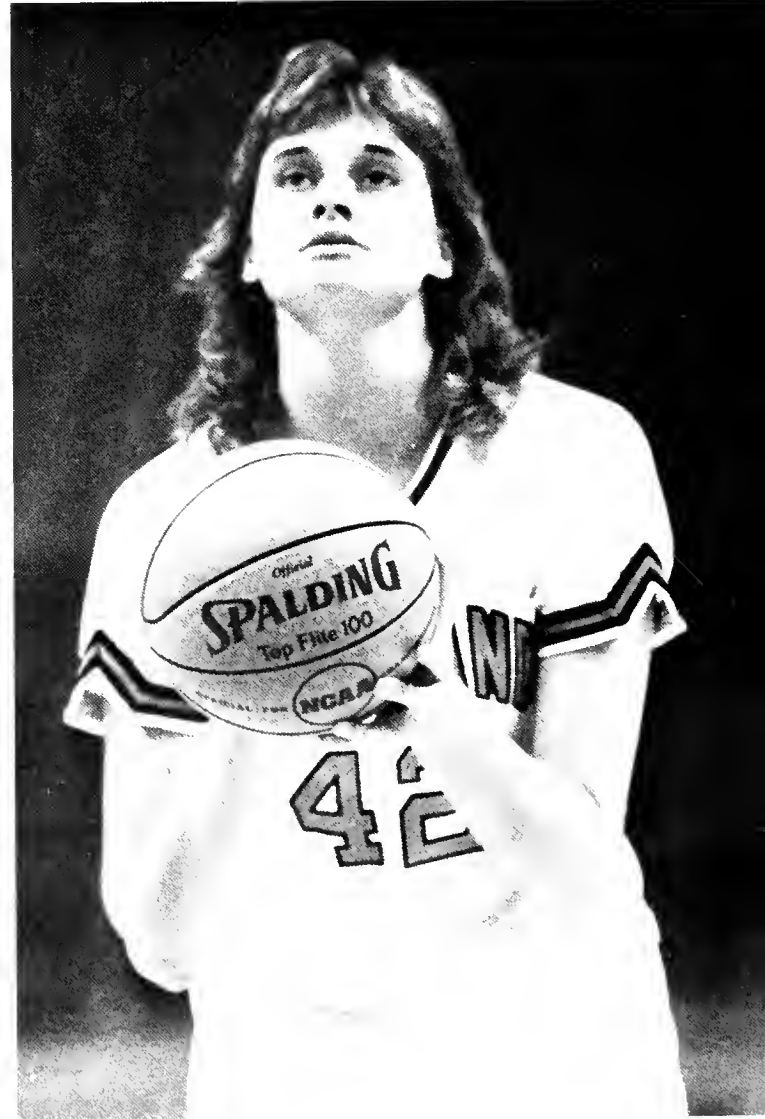

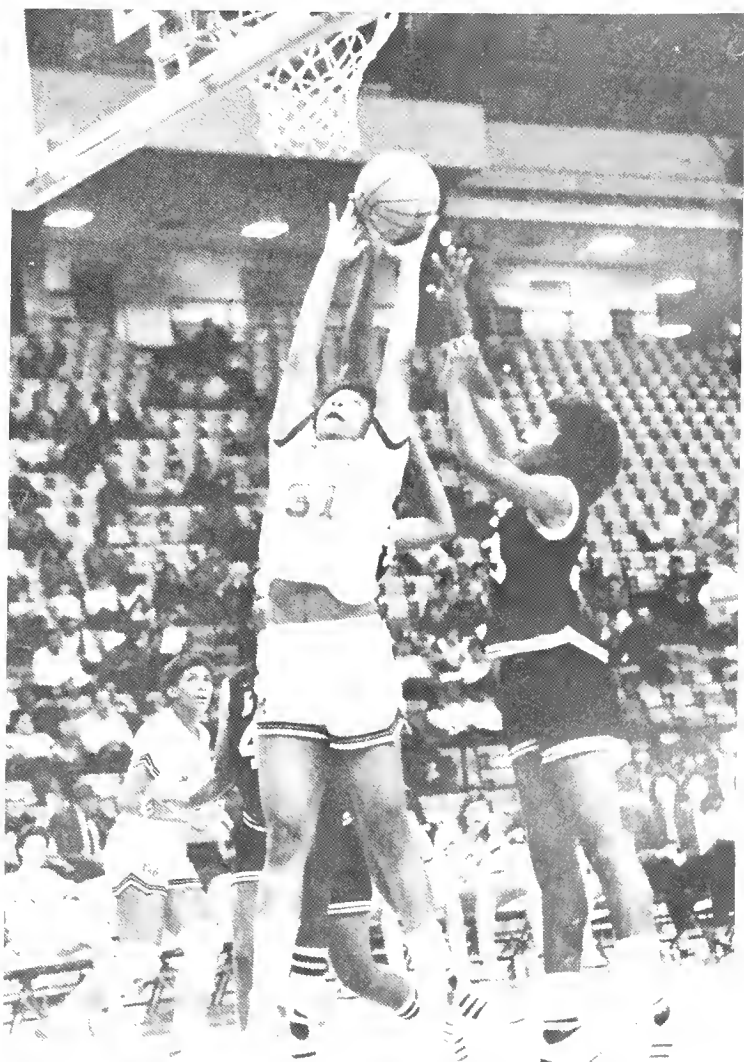

Hello, Citrus Bowl

Hoopsters

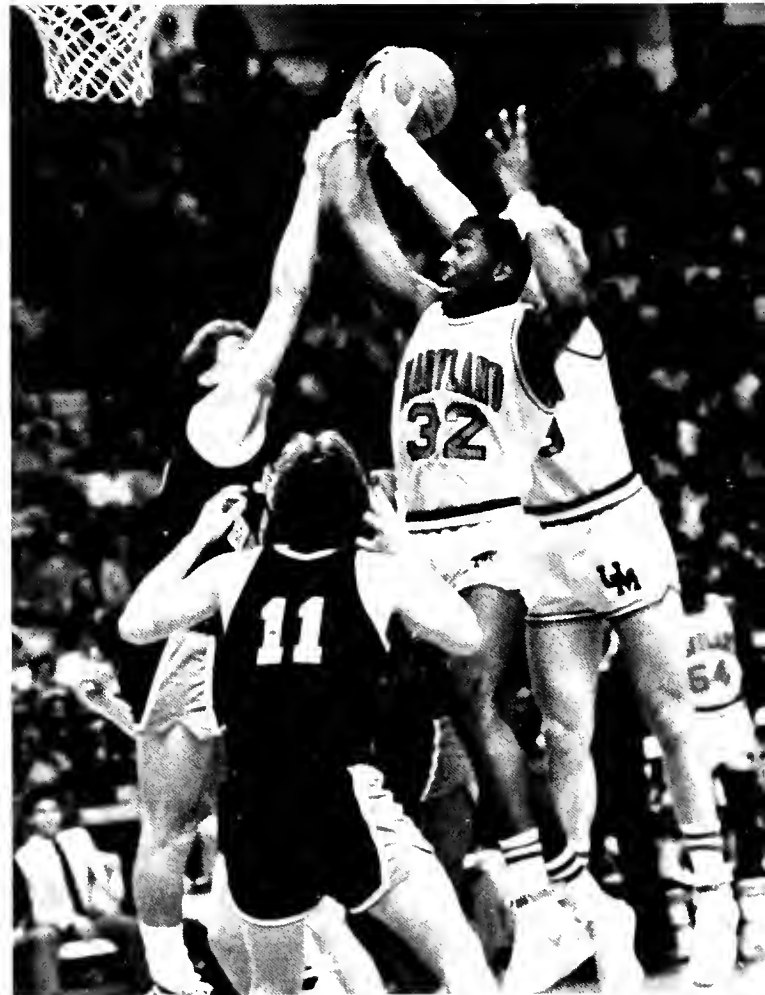

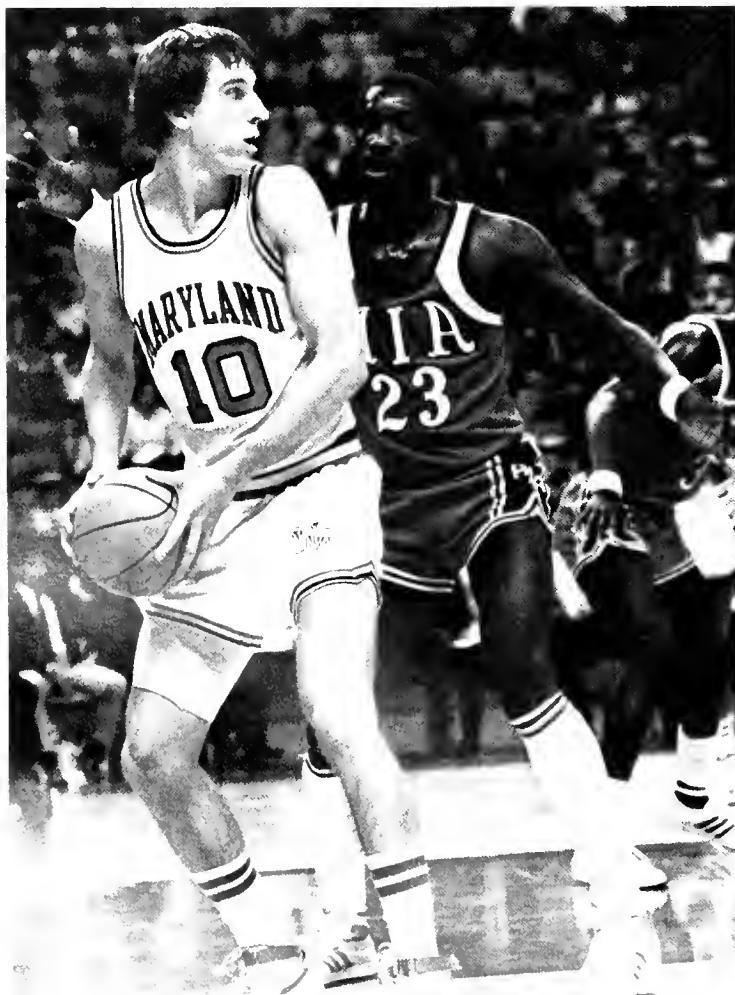

These ACC champs were ranked in the top ten for the 6th consecutive year. The Terps had an unbelievable record of 26-5, and went as far as the final 8 in the NCAA tournament. Jasmina Perazic, Marcia Richardson and Boe Peerman were all high scorers.

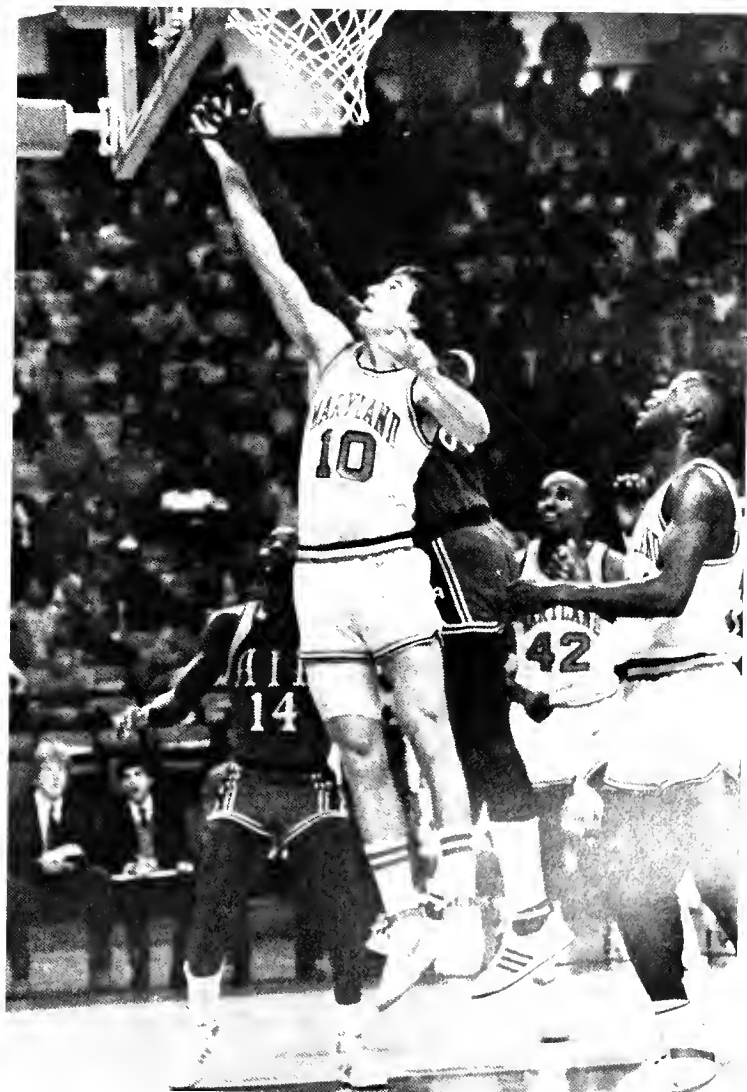

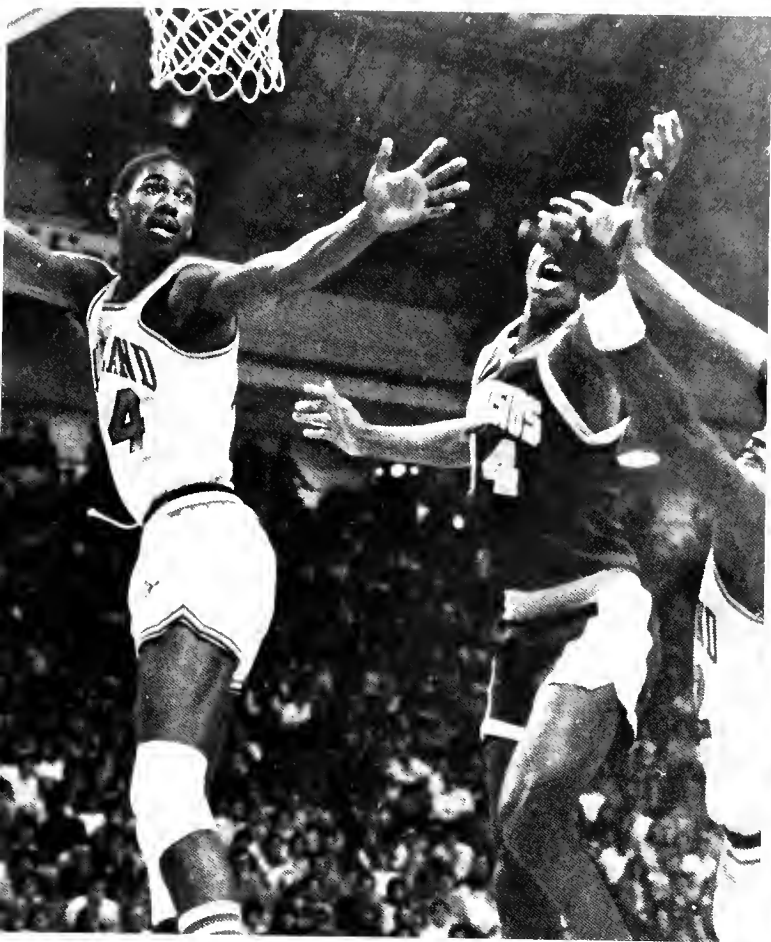

Court Men

1983 was a successful year for our men of the court, who finished their season with a 20-10 record. Ranking 3rd in the ACC, Ben Coleman and Adrian Branch were named all-ACC. The fire starters-Ben Coleman, Adrian Branch, Len Bias, Herman Veal and Jeff Adkins-all returned for the 84 season. The Terps went to the NCAA tournament in the spring, losing in the 1st round.

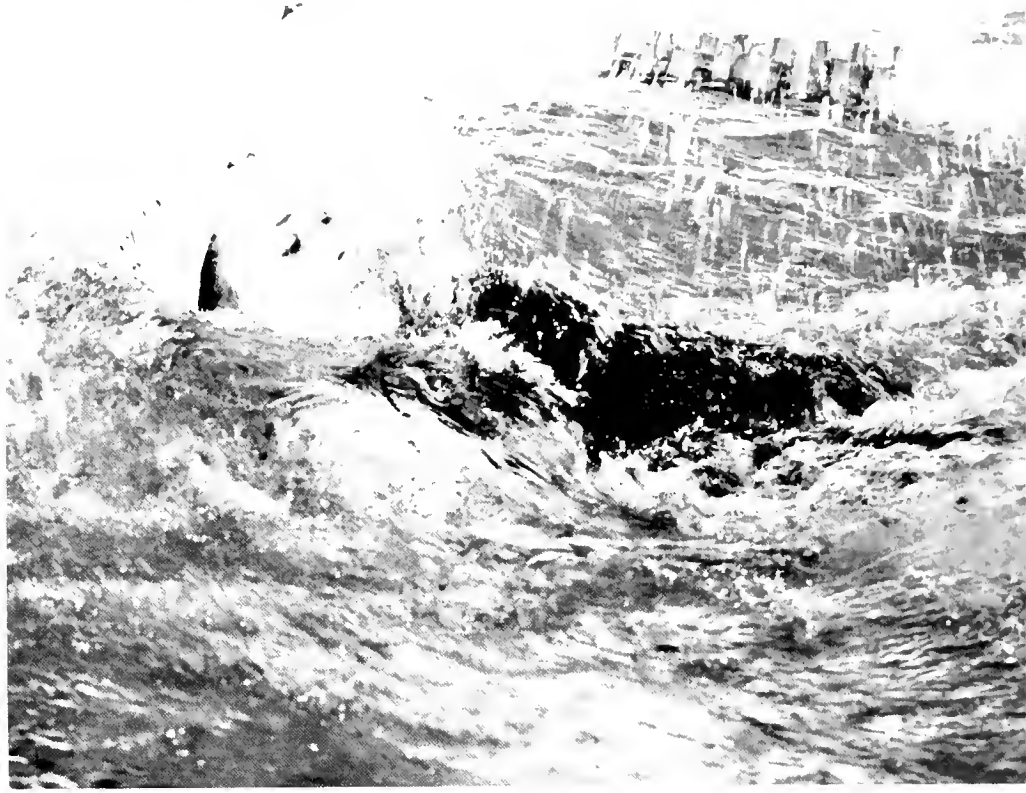

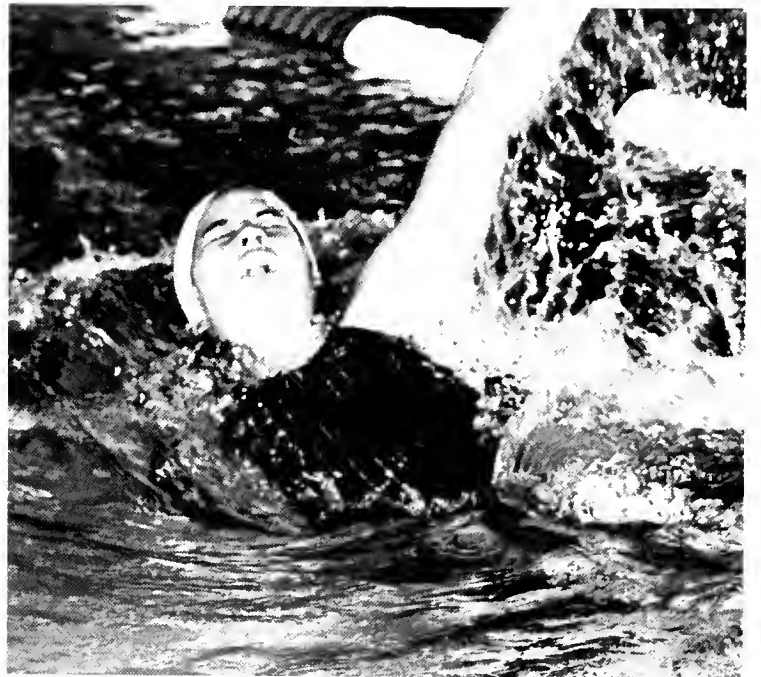

Down Under

Nurturing young talent, Coach Charles Hoffman honed his team's abilities and molded a winning combination.

The ACC tournament was the light at the end of the tunnel; hard work was their transportation.

Stroke, Stroke

You've heard the names- the butterfly, the breaststroke, free-style, and high-diving. They're all part of swimming- and strengths in these areas played a major role in the men's swimming team this year.

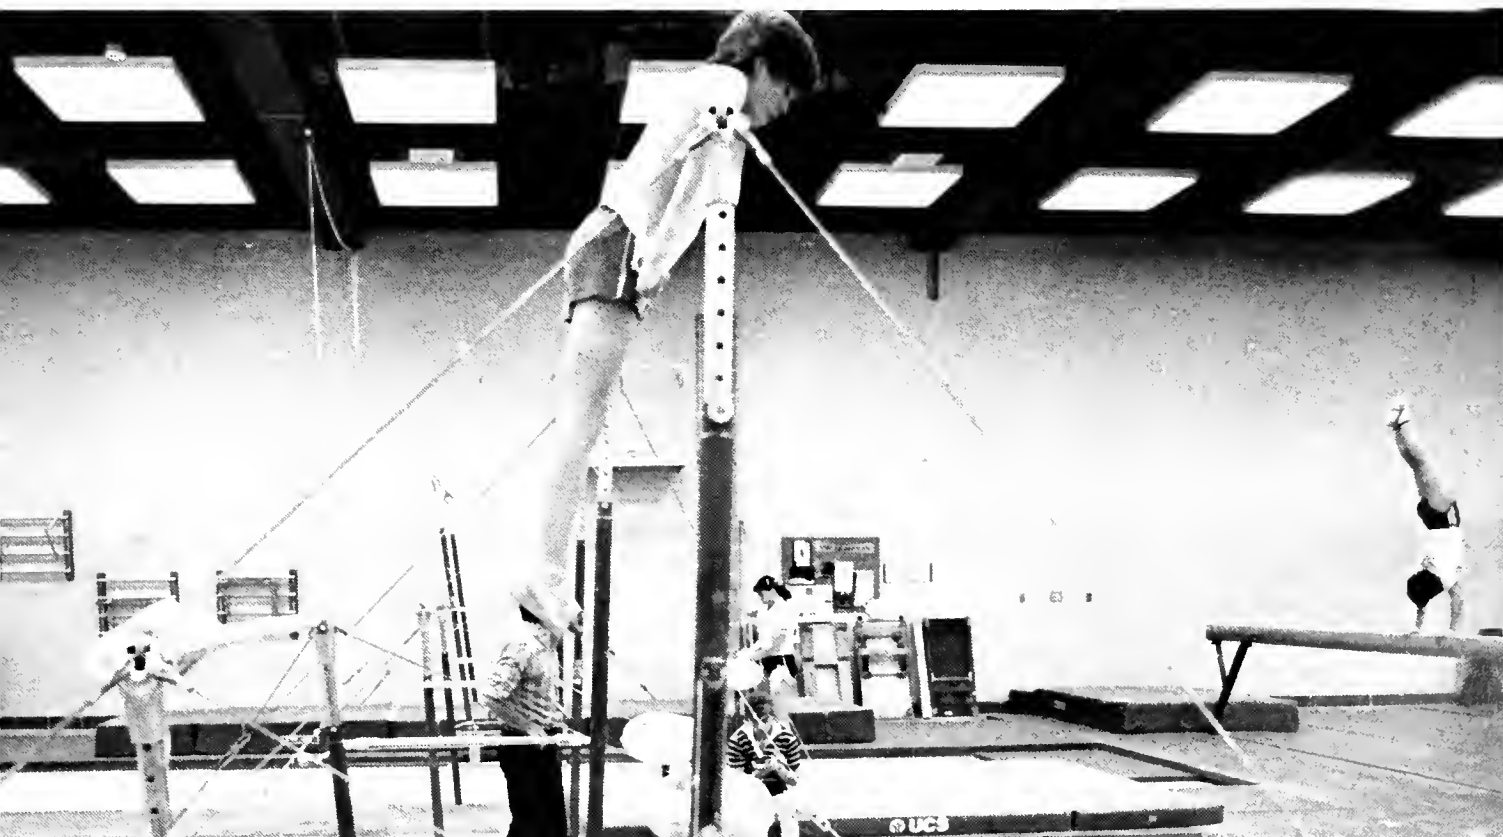

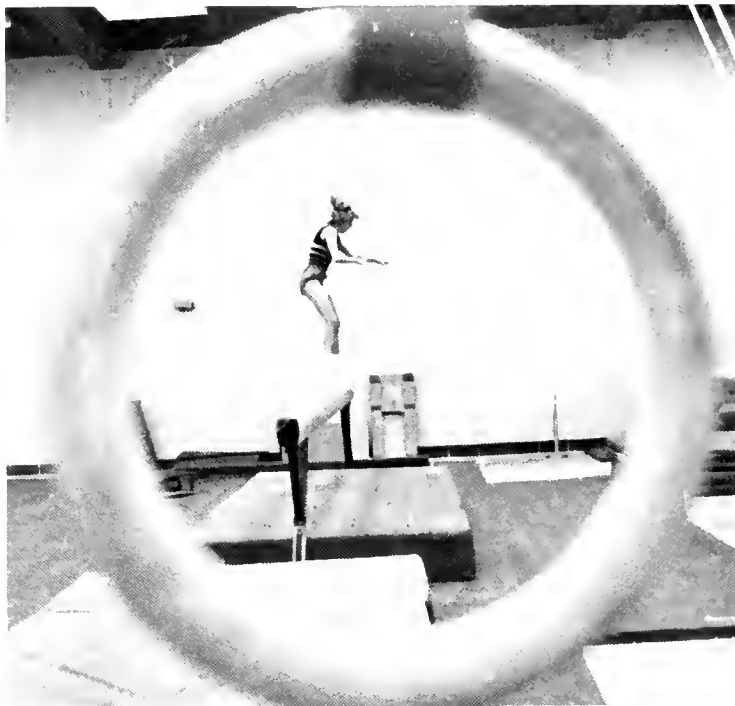

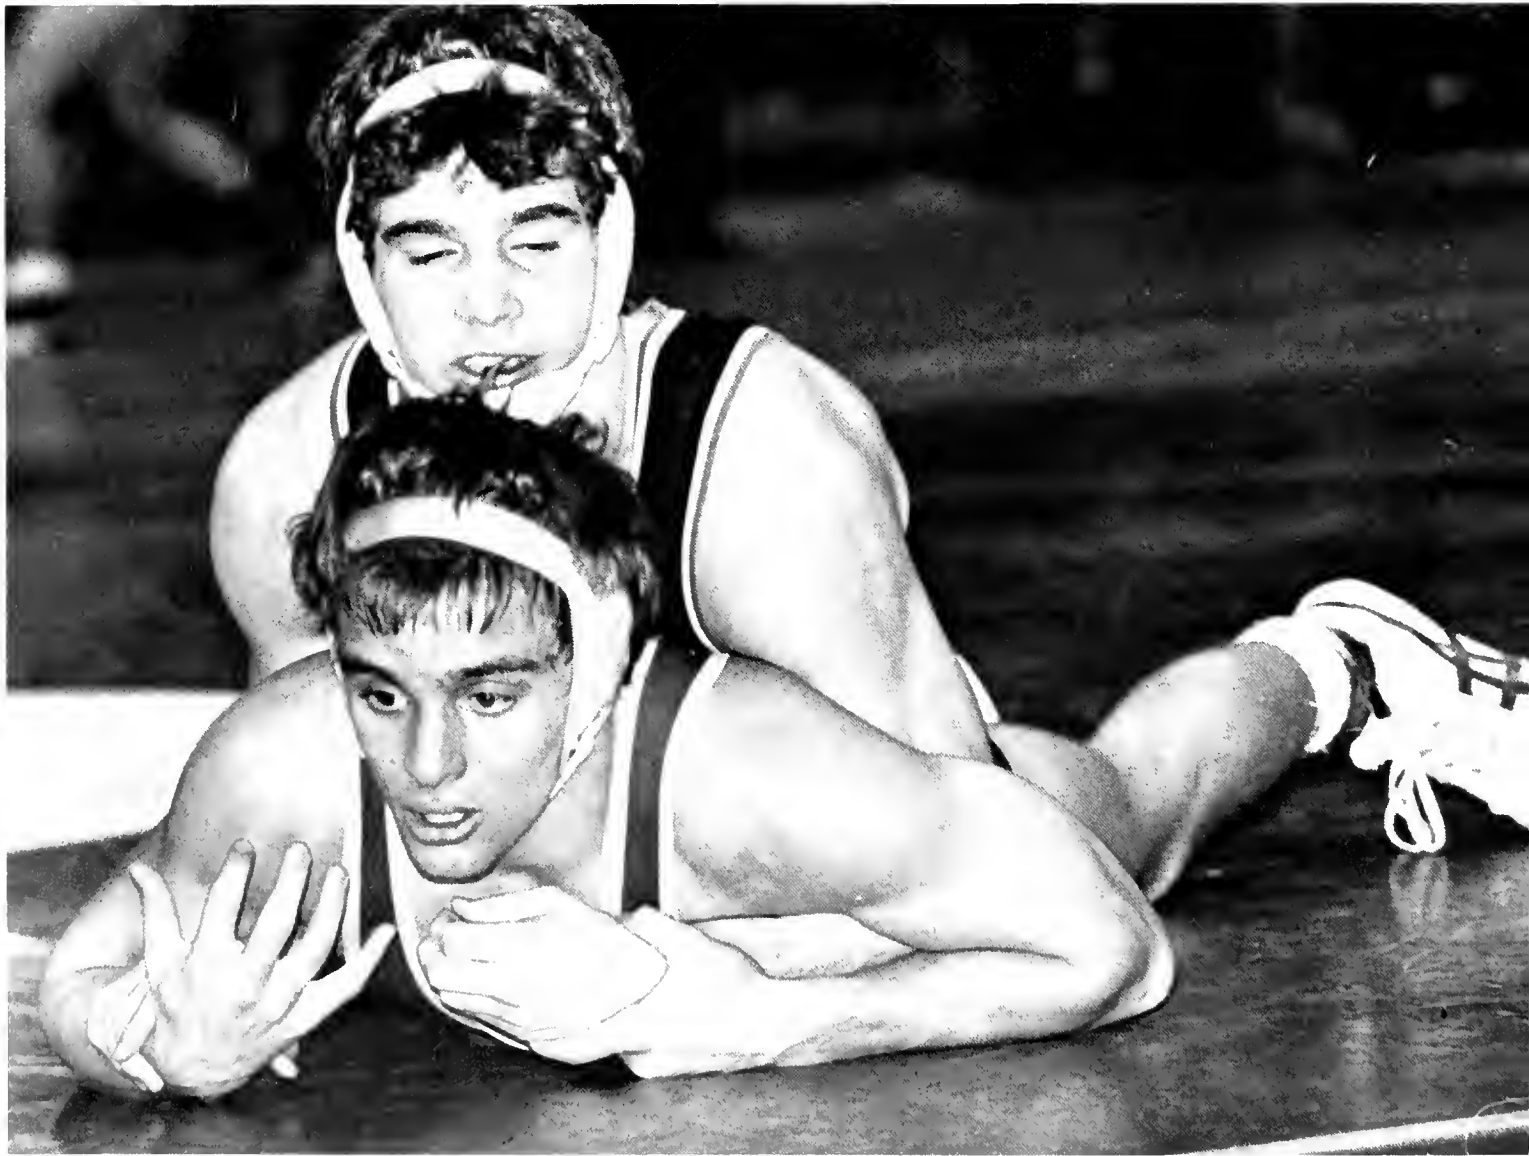

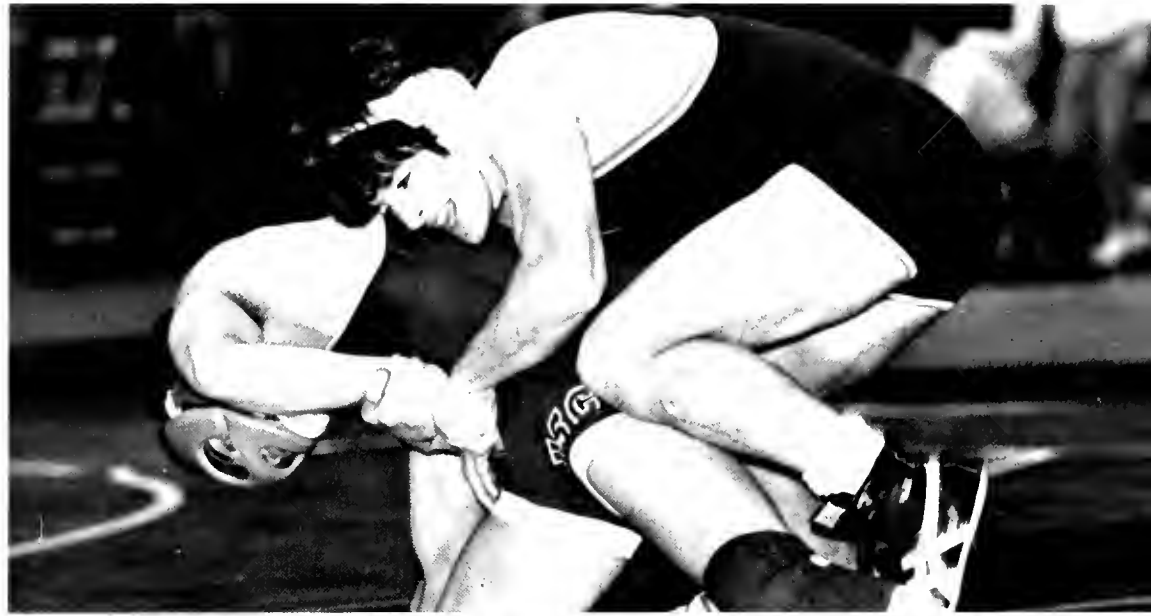

Of Olga And Kurt Thomas

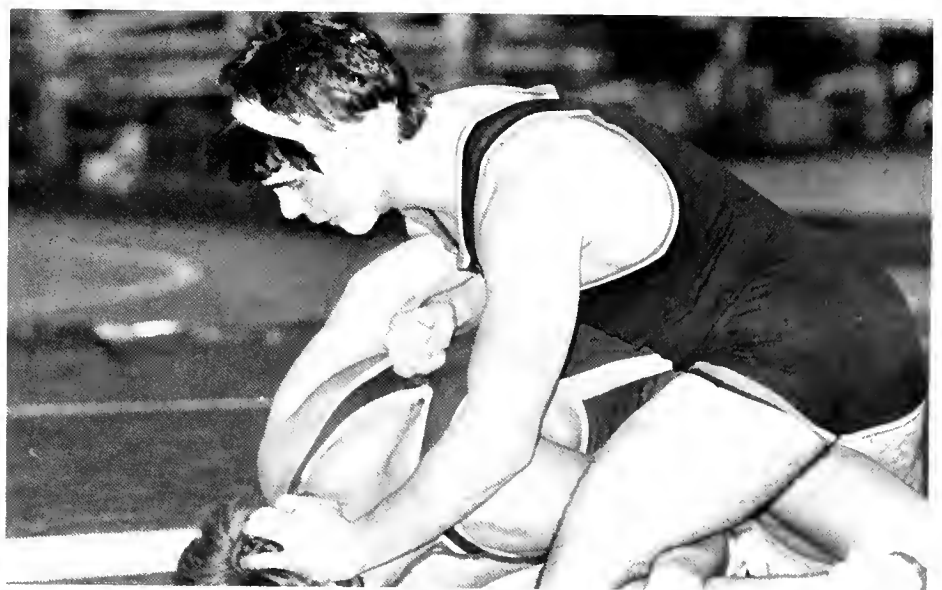

Despite limited funds and little public support in the past, the gymnastic squad has become well known nationally. In the past, there were very few young members; now there are a few due to scholarships. Happily, the number of fans has increased of late and the recognition of the gymnastics squad is growing.

THE OUTLOOK

That crash heard in the South Campus Dining Hall this summer of 1983 was the sound of the campus' former Jewish newspaper, "HaKoach" toppling to its death. That rumble heard was the rise of "Mitzpeh-The Outlook," the new Jewish paper, here to help the campus better understand Jewish life, and to report on events affecting the Jewish population here.

The Black Explosion

Minority students at the University didn't always have such a viable outlet in which they could voice the problems and concerns of the minority community.

It was not until the 70's that the outlet was provided. That outlet was the Black Explosion.

The Black Explosion is a bi-weekly publication which focuses on issues affecting the minority community on and off campus.

Editor Crystal Williams flanked by her editorial staff.

From The Terrapin Wire Service College Park, Md. — The Diamondback, the campus newspaper, this year was voted the number one college paper in the country. It earned the honor based upon "hard investigative" reporting. Appearing daily, The Diamondback complements its campus coverage with national wire service reports.

CALVERT MAGAZINE

THE MAGAZINE WITH THE POWER TO BEND MINDS

A quick glance at the Calvert envelops the reader in a potpourri of poetry, fiction, and visual art written and prepared by the students, faculty and staff of the university.

Calvert, published twice annually, does, we're told, "welcome submissions from all humans on campus."

Editor Glenn Moomau

Maryland Media, Inc.

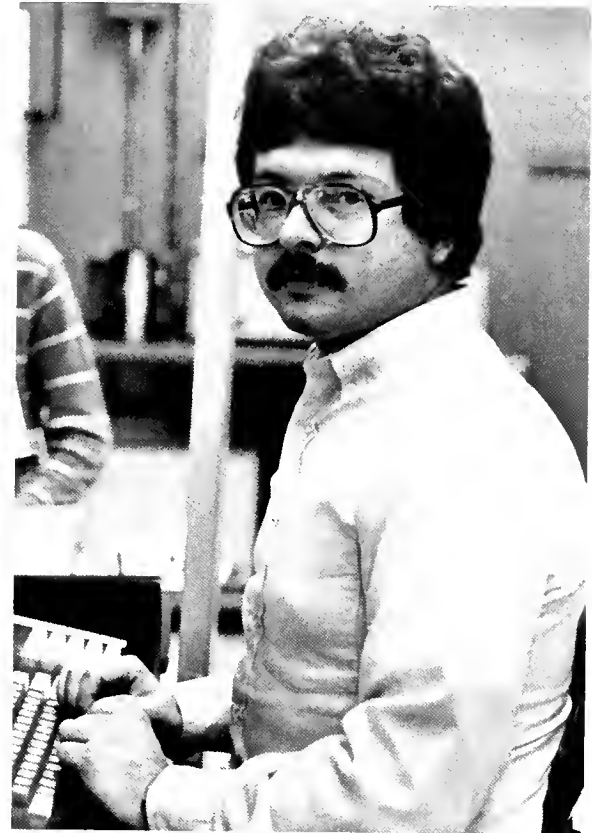

The Board of Directors, from left to right: Michael Fribush, General Manager; Barbara Hines; Susan Egerman; Crystal Williams, Glenn Moomau; Nancy French, Business Manager; Glenn Mosley, Gary Gately, and Tomu Parming. Not pictured: Ira Allen.

If during one's college career one chooses not to flex one's literary muscles in print, it is not the fault of Maryland Media Inc., that non-university aligned corporation which oversees five student publications: Calvert Magazine, The Mitzpeh, The Black Explosion, The Diamondback, and The Terrapin Yearbook.

College Park's Best: WMUC

1983 was the year WMUC AM and FM hit full stride. Smart programming and leadership brought WMUC-AM to the fore as an invaluable training ground for those learning the media, while FM 88.1 now stands as the only progressive radio station in the local market. WMUC also offers training in news, sports, promotions, sales, public affairs, and computer operations.

What is past is prologue . . .

"We have not seen the beginning of the end, but perhaps we have seen the end of the beginning . . ."

A black and white photograph of a brick sign for the University of Maryland College Park Campus. The sign is mounted on a brick pillar and features a white rectangular panel with the university's name in a serif font. The background shows a large grassy field and several multi-story brick buildings in the distance.

In Memoriam

"He was a great man and a talented and perceptive writer."

-Public Affairs school
research associate
Robert Pastor

Campus Spanish literature professor Angel Rama was killed near Madrid in one of the world's ten worst airplane crashes on November 27.

Rama had taught here from 1979 until early 1983, but due to a visa battle with the federal Immigration and Naturalization Service (an unspecified "subversive" classification had been placed on his visa), the world renowned author and literature critic was forced into a one-year sabbatical, denied his great love—teaching.

THE DAY AFTER

On November 20, millions of Americans sat transfixed in front of their television screens, horrified by the nuclear nightmare presented that evening by ABC television.

But even more disheartening than the mere thought of those fictional events actually occurring were the public debates which followed: "What are we going to do when the bomb is dropped?"

One would think that instead people would have said, "Well, there are a lot of reasons why the bomb might be dropped, but there's no reason why it HAS to."

Though to be today's heroes, we need not look for our strength in the past, the past (with all of its lessons) is something we dare not forget. Here, then, look back upon the U.M.C.P. of yore. First up: the College of Medicine, after the Civil War.

ALBERT CABELL RITCHIE
BORN in Richmond, Va., August 26, 1876; B.S., University of Maryland, 1900; LL.D., University of Maryland, 1920. Four-time Governor of the State of Maryland; member of the bar; legislator; educator; author; statesman, lawyer and economist, and probably recognized as the greatest Marylander of his generation by his geographical location.
 Served in several minor positions, including Secretary of the State of Maryland, 1910-1914; Governor of the State of Maryland, 1915-1919; Secretary of the State of Maryland, 1920-1924; Governor of the State of Maryland, 1925-1929; Secretary of the State of Maryland, 1930-1934; Governor of the State of Maryland, 1935-1939; Secretary of the State of Maryland, 1940-1944; Governor of the State of Maryland, 1945-1949; Secretary of the State of Maryland, 1950-1954; Governor of the State of Maryland, 1955-1959; Secretary of the State of Maryland, 1960-1964; Governor of the State of Maryland, 1965-1969; Secretary of the State of Maryland, 1970-1974; Governor of the State of Maryland, 1975-1979; Secretary of the State of Maryland, 1980-1984; Governor of the State of Maryland, 1985-1989; Secretary of the State of Maryland, 1990-1994; Governor of the State of Maryland, 1995-1999; Secretary of the State of Maryland, 2000-2004; Governor of the State of Maryland, 2005-2009; Secretary of the State of Maryland, 2010-2014; Governor of the State of Maryland, 2015-2019; Secretary of the State of Maryland, 2020-2024; Governor of the State of Maryland, 2025-2029.
 A great friend of education, he played a leading part in the establishment of the University of Maryland and bettering the general education of the State.
 His death was Maryland's greatest loss in modern times.

MILTON A. CANIFF
 January
 27th
 1947

Dear Miss Chickering:

This will confirm my selection of Miss Barbara Hargraves as our traditional "Miss Terrapin" and I hope that my message reached you in time to make the announcement at the Junior-Senior prom.

As I anticipated when I consented to assist in this pleasant project I found it difficult to arrive at a final decision when the photographs of the beautiful ladies of the University of Maryland arrived in the mail.

I am returning the photographs herewith and I certainly will enjoy seeing a copy of the TERRAPIN when it comes off the presses.

Sincerely,

Milton Caniff

This university of our's is no fantasy land; it is a neat microcosm of the society it inhabits. It is, as society is, a unique blend of good and bad. While it offers students a multitude of opportunities, it also houses, for example, a theatre department which deprives students of learning experiences by casting teachers in stage productions; and though one may meet many different kinds of people here, one may also encounter tensions of race and creed. Yes, it is a very real place, this "University of Maryland."

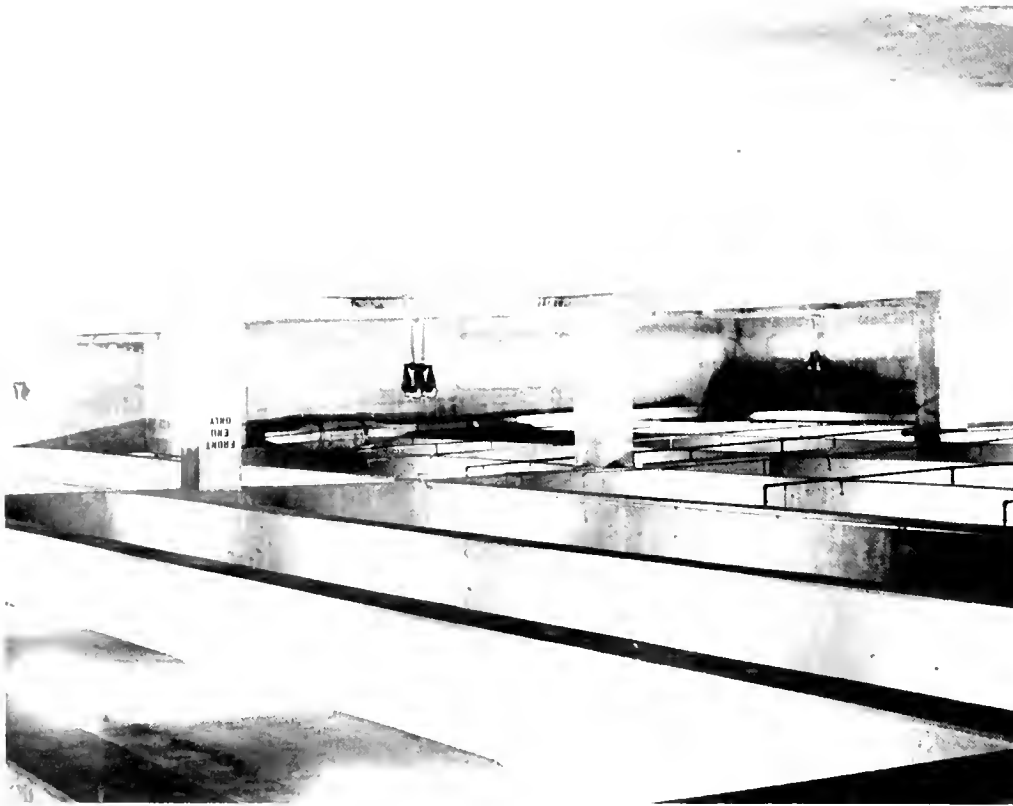

... A Bit Upside - Down

Sometimes, Life Does Get . . .

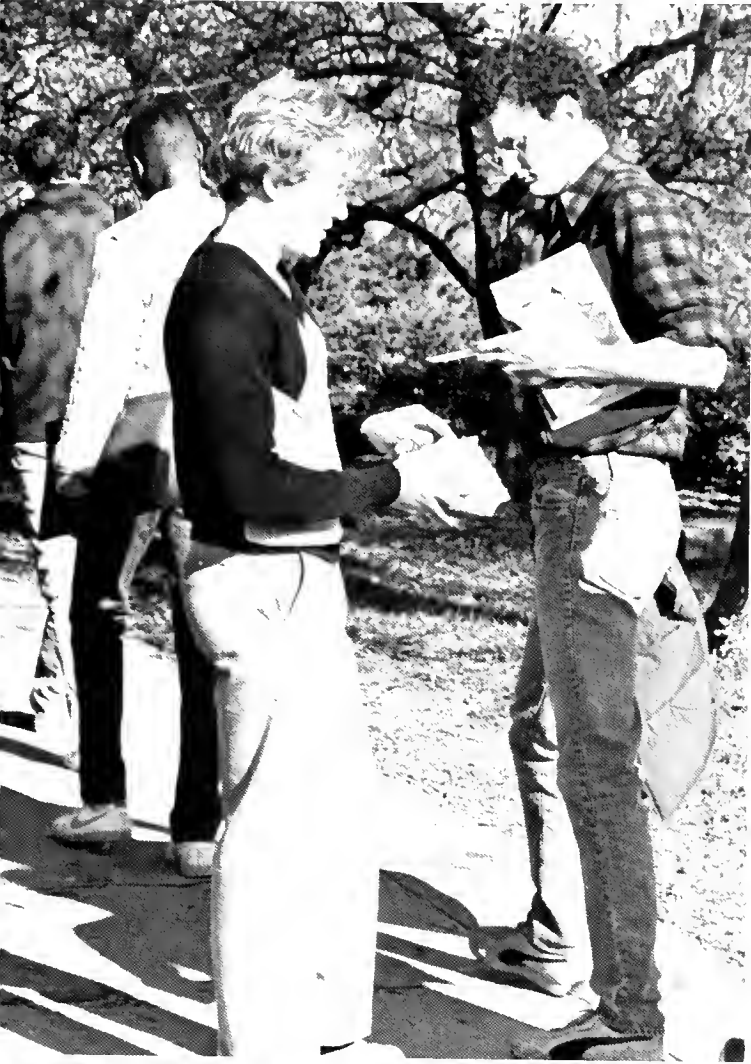

With A Little Work . . .

. . . You Can Always Right It Again

And now, a word from our sponsor . . .
Some brief words of thanks from ye olde kindly editor-in-chief to the yearbook staff, of course;
To Jeff, for spending all those absurd hours in the office with me; To Jon & Ann for believing;
To Mike for not locking me out, though he may have wanted to; and, most of all, To Susan Cheiken, whose mighty shoulder was there the day the ink spilled, and every day thereafter. Good luck and God bless.

Take care. Be seeing you.

TRY TELLING THESE PEOPLE THAT CANCER IS UNBEATABLE.

Everyone in this picture shares something in common. They've all had cancer, and are leading happy, normal lives.

Through progress in treatment, knowing the risks and early detection, over two million individuals have survived cancer.

But most people don't know that. They still think cancer is unbeatable.

A fact which over two million people would like to dispute.

How you live may save your life.

The New Sears keeps an old promise

There's much that's new at Sears these days, from dynamic developments in video products to casual clothes for the whole family from Levi Strauss.

But in one area we're as old fashioned as apple pie: Satisfaction Guaranteed or Your Money Back, a promise we've made for over half a century. To keep it we insist on quality from the start. Our buyers spend thousands of hours each year at factories making our products. Our engineers help manufacturers improve their efficiency. Our Laboratory tests over 10,000 items a year. The end result comes down to five simple words: You Can Count on Sears.

TABASCO sauce is made from a special variety of peppers taken from the fields red and juicy-ripe. They are then stored away in oak barrels and aged for years to mellow the fruit to its unique aroma and flavor. Finally, 100 grain vinegar is blended in to yield the genuine TABASCO sauce. This time-honored process has helped people with good taste flavor their food in the kitchen and on the table since 1868.

WAUSAU WORKS.™

Running interference for the Jostens team.

Jostens, a leading manufacturer of recognition products, including official Super Bowl rings and 1984 Olympic medals, has grown consistently for 26 consecutive years, and now has facilities all across the U.S. and Canada. With over 6,000 employees. Yet it succeeds in administering all of its insurance and risk management programs with only two people, headed by Risk Manager Gerald Ciardelli.

Mr. Ciardelli provides some background. "We appointed Wausau back when it became apparent that we needed loss-prevention help in such areas as industrial hygiene and audiometric testing. And we knew Wausau had full-service offices near each of our manufacturing locations.

"Since then, I've been very pleased with the service Wausau has brought to us. When problems arise, they can be handled locally. And quickly.

Anyone who has our emphasis on full service at the plant level would have to be pleased."

And we're pleased to be helping with Jostens' gains.
